
Essential Cell Biology Chapter 8: Control of Gene Expression Questions and Answers 2023

Housekeeping Proteins - -Proteins common to many cell types, concerned with basic metabolic and structural functions.

-Regulatory DNA Sequences - -DNA sequence to which a transcription regulator binds to determine when where & in what quantities a gene is to be transcribed into RNA.

-Transcription Regulators - -Proteins that bind specifically to a regulatory DNA sequence; involved in controlling whether a gene is switched on or off; activator or repressor. Can coordinate the expression of MANY genes.

-DNA Binding Motifs - -3D substructure that is found in many proteins; bind regulatory DNA-binding proteins at enhancer/bidning/operator sites; interact with specific sequences of bases, usually through the major groove of the DNA helix.

Ex. Zinc Finger, Helix-turn-helix

-+glucose -lactose - -Repressor bound, Cap NOT bound; Operon OFF.

-+glucose +lactose - -Cap not bound, repressor not bound; Operon OFF. Increased concentration of Allolactose.

--glucose +lactose - -Cap bound, repressor not bound; Operon ON. Cyclic AMP is produced. Lac Z, the first enzyme of the operon , encodes for the enzyme beta-galactosidase.

--glucose -lactose - -Cap bound, repressor bound. Operon OFF.

-Beta-galactosidase - -Enzyme that breaks down lactose into glucose and galactose.

-Enhancers - -Binding sites for activator proteins.

-Combinatorial Control - -The control of gene expression in which more than one regulatory protein is used and expression is allowed only in a specific combination of conditions. The coordination of multiple proteins to initiate a SINGLE gene being transcribed.

-DNA Methylation - -The addition of methyl groups (—CH_3) to bases of DNA after DNA synthesis; may serve as a long-term control of gene expression.

-RNAi (RNA interference) - -Inhibition of gene expression by RNA molecules.

Systems Biology of Transcription Regulation Ekaterina Shelest, Edgar Wingender, Joerg Linde, 2016-09-09 Transcription regulation is a complex process that can be considered and investigated from different perspectives Traditionally and due to technical reasons including the evolution of our understanding of the underlying processes the main focus of the research was made on the regulation of expression through transcription factors TFs the proteins directly binding to DNA On the other hand intensive research is going on in the field of chromatin structure remodeling and its involvement in the regulation Whatever direction we select we can speak about several levels of regulation For instance concentrating on TFs we should consider multiple regulatory layers starting with signaling pathways and ending up with the TF binding sites in the promoters and other regulatory regions However it is obvious that the TF regulation also including the upstream processes represents a modest portion of all processes leading to gene expression For more comprehensive description of the gene regulation we need a systematic and holistic view which brings us to the importance of systems biology approaches Advances in methodology especially in high throughput methods result in an ever growing mass of data which in many cases is still waiting for appropriate consideration Moreover the accumulation of data is going faster than the development of algorithms for their systematic evaluation Data and methods integration is indispensable for the acquiring a systematic as well as a systemic view In addition to the huge amount of molecular or genetic components of a biological system the even larger number of their interactions constitutes the enormous complexity of processes occurring in a living cell organ organism In systems biology these interactions are represented by networks Transcriptional or more generally gene regulatory networks are being generated from experimental ChIPseq data by reverse engineering from transcriptomics data or from computational predictions of transcription factor TF target gene relations While transcriptional networks are now available for many biological systems mathematical models to simulate their dynamic behavior have been successfully developed for metabolic and to some extent for signaling networks but relatively rarely for gene regulatory networks Systems biology approaches provide new perspectives that raise new questions Some of them address methodological problems others arise from the newly obtained understanding of the data These open questions and problems are also a subject of this Research Topic
