Shape-Shifting Capital George González, 2015-05-20 Shape Shifting Capital Spiritual Management Critical Theory and the Ethnographic Project is positioned at the intersection of anthropology critical theory and philosophy of religion First González explores the phenomena of workplace spirituality in a language that is accessible to a general readership Taking contemporary trends in organizational management as a case study he argues by way of a detailed ethnographic study of practitioners of workplace spirituality that the conceptual and institutional boundaries between religion science and capitalism are being redrawn by theologized management appropriations of tropes borrowed from creativity theory and quantum mechanics Second González makes a case for a critical anthropology of religion that combines existential concerns for biography and intentionality with poststructuralist concerns for power arguing that the ways in which the personalization of metaphor bridges personal and social histories also helps bring about broader epistemic shifts in society Finally in a postsecular age in which capitalism itself is explicitly and confidently spiritual González suggests that it is imperative to reorient our critical energies towards a present day evaluation of postmodern capitalism's boundary blurring González further argues that the kind of existential deconstruction performed by what he calls existential archeology can serve the needs of any social criticism of neoliberal religion and corporate spirituality The Journal of Karnatak University Karnatak

University, 1986 Free Hands and Minds Susan Bartie, 2019-09-19 Peter Brett 1918 1975 Alice Erh Soon Tay 1934 2004 and Geoffrey Sawer 1910 1996 are key yet largely overlooked members of Australia's first community of legal scholars This book is a critical study of how their ideas and endeavours contributed to Australia's discipline of law and the first Australian legal theories It examines how three marginal figures a Jewish man Brett a Chinese woman Tay and a war orphan Sawer rose to prominence during a transformative period for Australian legal education and scholarship Drawing on in depth interviews with former colleagues and students extensive archival research and an appraisal of their contributions to scholarship and teaching this book explores the three professors' international networks and broader social and historical milieux Their pivotal leadership roles in law departments at the University of Melbourne University of Sydney and the Australian National University are also critically assessed Ranging from local experiences and the concerns of a nascent Australian legal academy to the complex transnational phenomena of legal scholarship and theory Free Hands and Minds makes a compelling case for contextualising law and legal culture within society At a time of renewed crisis in legal education and research in the common law world it also offers a vivid nuanced and critical account of the enduring liberal foundations of Australia's discipline of law Problems and Issues in Political Science V.
