Being Given Toward A Phenomenology Of Givenness Cultural Memory In The Present:

Being Given Jean-Luc Marion, 2002-07-31 Along with Husserl's Ideas and Heidegger's Being and Time Being Given is one of the classic works of phenomenology in the twentieth century Through readings of Kant Husserl Heidegger Derrida and twentieth century French phenomenology e.g. Merleau-Ponty Levinas and Henry it ventures a bold and decisive reappraisal of phenomenology and its possibilities Its author's most original work to date the book pushes phenomenology to its limits in an attempt to redefine and recover the phenomenological ideal which the author argues has never been realized in any of the historical phenomenologies Against Husserl's reduction to consciousness and Heidegger's reduction to Dasein the author proposes a third reduction to givenness wherein phenomena appear unconditionally and show themselves from themselves at their own initiative Being Given is the clearest most systematic response to questions that have occupied its author for the better part of two decades The book articulates a powerful set of concepts that should provoke new research in philosophy religion and art as well as at the intersection of these disciplines Some of the significant issues it treats include the phenomenological definition of the phenomenon the redefinition of the gift in terms not of economy but of givenness the nature of saturated phenomena and the question Who comes after the subject Throughout his consideration of these issues the author carefully notes their significance for the increasingly popular fields of religious studies and philosophy of religion Being Given is therefore indispensable reading for anyone interested in the question of the relation between the phenomenological and the theological in Marion and emergent French phenomenology Being Given Jean-Luc

Marion, 2002 First in a trilogy which also includes Marion's Reduction and givenness and In excess studies of saturated phenomena

Partakers of the Divine Jacob Holsinger Sherman, 2014-04-01 An extended essay in contemplative philosophy the meeting of mystical and philosophical theology Partakers of the Divine shows that Christian philosophical and contemplative practices arose together and that throughout much of Christian history philosophy theology and contemplation remained internal to one another Further the relation of philosophy theology and contemplation to one another is of more than antiquarian interest for it provides theologians and philosophers of religion today with a way forward beyond many of the stalemates that have beset discussions about faith and reason the role of religion in contemporary culture and the challenges of modernity and postmodernity

Religious Experience and Contemporary Theological Epistemology Lieven Boeve, Yves De Maeseneer, Stijn Van den Bossche, 2005 In this volume we present the proceedings from the fourth international Leuven Encounters in Systematic Theology LEST IV November 5-8 2003 which focussed on a critical investigation of the place and role of religious experience in the legitimation structures of contemporary theological thinking patterns In the first part the keynote lectures including the responses are gathered among others from L. Boeve F. Fiorenza L. Hemming G. Jantzen S. Painadath S. Robert R. Schaeffler and S. Van den Bossche In the second part a selection of the contributions offered in the thematic seminars is presented The Story of a Great Medieval Book Philipp W.

Rosemann, 2019-02-06 Peter Lombard a twelfth century theologian authored one of the first Western textbooks of theology the Book of Sentences Here Lombard logically arranged all of the major topics of the Christian faith His Book of Sentences received the largest number of commentaries among all works of Christian literature except for Scripture itself Now notable Lombard scholar Philipp W Rosemann examines this text as a guiding thread to studying Christian thought throughout the later Middle Ages and into early modern times This is the second title in a series called Rethinking the Middle Ages which is committed to re examining the Middle Ages its themes institutions people and events with short studies that will provoke discussion among students and medievalists and invite them to think about the middle ages in new and unusual ways The series editor Paul Edward Dutton invites suggestions and submissions

Literature and the Encounter with God in Post-Reformation England Michael Martin, 2016-05-23 Each of the figures examined in this study John Dee John Donne Sir Kenelm Digby Henry and Thomas Vaughan and Jane Lead is concerned with the ways in which God can be approached or experienced Michael Martin analyzes the ways in which the encounter with God is figured among these early modern writers who inhabit the shared cultural space of poets and preachers mystics and scientists The three main themes that inform this study are Cura animarum the care of souls and the diminished role of spiritual direction in post Reformation religious life the rise of scientific rationality and the struggle against the disappearance of the Holy Arising from the methods and commitments of phenomenology the primary mode of inquiry of this study resides in contemplation not in a religious sense but in the realm of perception attendance and acceptance Martin portrays figures such as Dee Digby and Thomas Vaughan not as the eccentrics they are often depicted to have been but rather as participating in a religious mainstream that had been radically altered by the disappearance of any kind of mandatory or regular spiritual direction a problem which was further complicated and exacerbated by the rise of science Thus this study contributes to a reconfiguration of our notion of what religious orthodoxy really meant during the period and calls into question our own assumptions about what is or was orthodox and heterodox

Theology and the Quest for Truth Mathijs Lamberigts, Lieven Boeve, Terrence Merrigan, 2006 In 2001 three research groups from the field of systematic theology and church history at the Faculty of Theology K U Leuven decided to join forces in an interdisciplinary project entitled Orthodoxy Process and Product The main aim of this project consists of a church historical and systematic theological study of the determination of truth in church and theology Senior and junior scholars from the three groups agreed to take this theme as the starting point and leading question from which the many research projects they are engaged in could be brought into relationship and as far as possible integrated Although the question for theological truth already structured the research being conducted in the three groups to a significant degree joining forces promised the realisation of a surplus value and this both through the gathering of a considerable critical mass in total more than thirty junior and senior researchers and the interdisciplinary design of the project In this volume a first collection of contributions to this project from a diversity of angles and research subjects is presented In these contributions scholars from the participating research groups investigate the implications of the overall research question for their particular line of research and research methodologies and suggest how from this specific research the overall question may be refined and elements of answering it can be provided

Heavenly Bodies Sigurdson,2016 Deep and wide study of 2 000 years of Christian thought on the human body Does Christianity scorn our bodies Friedrich Nietzsche thought so and many others since him have thought the same Ola Sigurdson contends to the contrary that Christianity understood properly in fact affirms human embodiment Presenting his constructive contributions to theology in relation to both historical and contemporary conceptions of the body Sigurdson begins by investigating the anthropological implications of the doctrine of the incarnation He then delves into the concept of the gaze and discusses a specifically Christian gaze of faith that focuses on God embodied in Jesus Finally he weaves these strands into a contemporary Christian theology of embodiment Sigurdson s profound engagement with the whole history of Christian life and thought not only elucidates the spectrum of Christian perspectives on the body but also models a way of thinking historically and systematically that other theologians will find stimulating and challenging

The Question of Theological Truth ,2012-01-01 In today s world the boundaries within which Christian theologians operate are becoming ever more permeable and Christian theology is increasingly influenced and challenged by multiple outside factors In Western Europe two such factors stand out in particular the so called turn to religion in continental philosophy and religious diversity Theologians working with contemporary continental philosophers and theologians engaging the multireligious world tend to work quite separately from one another The aim of the present book is therefore to initiate a conversation between these two groups of theologians The question of truth was chosen because it is both a key issue in contemporary philosophical debates in the continental and analytic traditions and one that arises in complex and problematic ways in the praxis of and theoretical reflection on interreligious dialogue Some of the pressing questions that are addressed by the contributors to this volume are What is truth What is theological truth How does the issue of truth arise from interreligious encounter To what extent can or should the nature of truth be discussed explicitly during interreligious dialogue Or should the question of truth be rather postponed in the interest of successful interreligious encounter Is there a hermeneutical concept of truth and if so how can it be of help for theological reflection on the question of truth and on the role and place of truth in the context of dialogue between religions

The Aesthetic Paths of Philosophy Alison Ross,2007 Ross argues that the thinking of Heidegger Lacoue Labarthe and Nancy must be understood as ways of addressing the problem of presentation as framed by and inherited from Kant s Critique of Judgment
