

The background of the image is a dark, atmospheric night scene. It appears to be a road or a path leading into the distance, illuminated by a few distant, bright lights that create a sense of depth and mystery. The overall tone is moody and contemplative.

Michelle Brown, Eamonn Carrabine

Belgian Autumn Confabulated Jan Rosseel:

Routledge International Handbook of Visual Criminology Michelle Brown, Eamonn Carrabine, 2017-07-06 Dynamically written and richly illustrated the Routledge International Handbook of Visual Criminology offers the first foundational primer on visual criminology. Spanning a variety of media and visual modes, this volume assembles established researchers whose work is essential to understanding the role of the visual in criminology and emergent thinkers whose work is taking visual criminology in new directions. This book is divided into five parts that each highlight a key aspect of visual criminology, exploring the diversity of methods, techniques, and theoretical approaches currently shaping the field. Part I introduces formative positions in the developments of visual criminology and explores the different disciplines that have contributed to analysing images. Part II explores visual representations of crime across film, graphic art, documentary, police photography, press coverage, and graffiti and urban aesthetics. Part III discusses the relationship of visual criminology to criminal justice institutions like policing, punishment, and law. Part IV focuses on the distinctive ethical problems posed by the image, reflecting on the historical development, theoretical disputes, and methodological issues involved. Part V identifies new frameworks and emergent perspectives and reflects upon the distinctive challenges and limits that can be seen in this emerging field. This book includes a vibrant colour plate section and over a hundred black and white images breaking down the barriers between original photography and artwork, historic paintings and illustrations, and modern comics and films. This interdisciplinary book will be of interest to criminologists, sociologists, visual ethnographers, art historians, and those engaged with media studies.

Automne Belge, 2015. In the autumn of 1985, a series of violent and bloody robberies of Belgian supermarkets abruptly came to an end. A group of unknown criminals referred to as The Gang of Nivelles was held responsible for these heinous acts. Between March 1982 and November 1985, the Gang of Nivelles committed twenty-three robberies and other crimes. In all, twenty-eight people were killed. The father of Jan Rosseel in 1979 was one of them. In spite of a thorough police investigation, a file of almost three million pages found evidence and witness accounts; the perpetrators were never apprehended. This period of terror and violence will remain one of the darkest pages in Belgian history. Almost thirty years later, the case remains unresolved. This book is Jan Rosseel's personal search for the Gang of Nivelles, made up of pictures and documents, reminiscences, and references. This book accompanies the exhibition Belgian Autumn: A Confabulated History at FoMu Antwerp from June 25 until October 4, 2015. Another exhibition will take place in Rosseel's gallery Yumi Goto in Tokyo, Japan. Text in English, French, and Dutch.
