groups of offenders and the implication that it seems possible to predict men who are unlikely to be helped by the simple provision of employment on release The final chapter considers critically some of the assumptions upon which the Apex project was based and the possible use of computer techniques in the individualization of treatment is briefly discussed The author was particularly well qualified to discuss this subject for apart from his work over a number of years with several after care organizations the present project involved working in prisons for over three years as well as interviewing and talking to men after their release The findings of this study will interest the wide variety of people concerned with prison after care Criminologists sociologists probation officers and all others working in prisons and after care will recognize the important implications of the material presented in this book Catalog of Copyright Entries ,1930 Resources in Education ,1975
