Architecture From The Outside Essays On Virtual And Real Space Writing Architecture:

Architecture from the Outside Elizabeth Grosz, 2001-06-22 Essays at the intersection of philosophy and architecture explore how we understand and inhabit space To be outside allows one a fresh perspective on the inside In these essays philosopher Elizabeth Grosz explores the ways in which two disciplines that are fundamentally outside each other architecture and philosophy can meet in a third space to interact free of their internal constraints Outside also refers to those whose voices are not usually heard in architectural discourse but who inhabit its space the destitute the homeless the sick and the dying as well as women and minorities Grosz asks how we can understand space differently in order to structure and inhabit our living arrangements accordingly Two themes run throughout the book temporal flow and sexual specificity Grosz argues that time change and emergence traditionally viewed as outside the concerns of space must become more integral to the processes of design and construction She also argues against architecture's historical indifference to sexual specificity asking what the existence of at least two sexes has to do with how we understand and experience space Drawing on the work of such philosophers as Henri Bergson Roger Caillois Gilles Deleuze Jacques Derrida Luce Irigaray and Jacques Lacan Grosz raises abstract but nonformalistic questions about space inhabitation and building All of the essays propose philosophical experiments to render space and building more mobile and dynamic

The Routledge Companion to Urban Imaginaries Christoph Lindner, Miriam Meissner, 2018-09-28 The Routledge Companion to Urban Imaginaries delves into examples of urban imaginaries across multiple media and geographies from new visions of smart eco and resilient cities to urban dystopias in popular culture from architectural renderings of starchitecture and luxury living to performative activism for new spatial justice and from speculative experiments in urban planning fiction and photography to augmented urban realities in crowd mapping and mobile apps The volume brings various global perspectives together and into close dialogue to offer a broad interdisciplinary and critical overview of the current state of research on urban imaginaries Questioning the politics of urban imagination the companion gives particular attention to the role that urban imaginaries play in shaping the future of urban societies communities and built environments Throughout the companion issues of power resistance and uneven geographical development remain central Adopting a transnational perspective the volume challenges research on urban imaginaries from the perspective of globalization and postcolonial studies inviting critical reconsiderations of urbanism in its diverse current forms and definitions In the process the companion explores issues of Western centrism in urban research and design and accommodates current attempts to radically rethink urban form and experience This is an essential resource for scholars and graduate researchers in the fields of urban planning and architecture art media and cultural studies film visual and literary studies sociology and political science geography and anthropology

English Landscapes and Identities Chris Gosden, Chris Green, Anwen

Cooper, Miranda Creswell, Victoria Donnelly, Tyler Franconi, Roger Glyde, Zena Kamash, Sarah Mallet, Laura Morley, Daniel Stansbie, Letty ten Harkel, 2021-05-06 Long before the Norman Conquest of 1066 England saw periods of profound change that transformed the landscape and the identities of those who occupied it The Bronze and Iron Ages saw the introduction of now familiar animals and plants such as sheep horses wheat and oats as well as new forms of production and exchange and the first laying out of substantial fields and trackways which continued into the earliest Romano British landscapes The Anglo Saxon period saw the creation of new villages based around church and manor with ridge and furrow cultivation strips still preserved today The basis for this volume is The English Landscapes and Identities project which synthesised all the major available sources of information on English archaeology to examine this crucial period of landscape history from the middle Bronze Age c 1500 BC to the Domesday survey c 1086 AD It looks at the nature of archaeological work undertaken across England to assess its strengths and weaknesses when writing long term histories Among many other topics it examines the interaction of ecology and human action in shaping the landscape issues of movement across the landscape in various periods changing forms of food over time an understanding of spatial scale and questions of enclosing and naming the landscape culminating in a discussion of the links between landscape and identity The result is the first comprehensive account of the English landscape over a crucial 2500 year period It also offers a celebration of many centuries of archaeological work especially the intensive large scale investigations that have taken place since the 1960s and transformed our understanding of England's past

Architectural Affects after Deleuze and Guattari Marko Jobst, Hélène Frichot, 2020-12-27

Architectural Affects after Deleuze and Guattari is the first sustained survey into ways of theorising affect in architecture It reflects on the legacy and influence of Gilles Deleuze and Félix Guattari in the uptake of affect in architectural discourse and practice and stresses the importance of the political in discussions of affect It is a timely antidote to an enduring fixation on architectural phenomenology in the field The contributors offer a variety of approaches to the challenges presented in discussing the relation between affect and architecture and how this is contextualised in the broader field of affect studies Ranging from evaluations of architectural and urban productions and practices to inquiries into architectural experience to modes of affective inquiry in education to experimental affective writing each contribution to this seminal volume suggests ways of developing a more sustained approach to a crucial thematic domain The volume will be of use to students at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels researchers theorists and historians of architecture and related urban and spatial disciplines the fields of social science and cultural theory and to philosophy in particular the studies of Deleuze and Guattari and Baruch Spinoza

Writing Architectures Hélène Frichot, Naomi Stead, 2020-10-29 Architects and fiction writers share the same ambition to imagine new worlds into being Every architectural proposition is a kind of fiction before it becomes a built fact likewise every written fiction relies on the construction of a context in which a story can take place This collection of essays explores what happens when fiction experimental writing and criticism are combined and applied to architectural projects and problems It begins with ficto criticism an experimental and often feminist mode of writing which fuses the forms and genres of essay critique and story and extends it into the domain of architecture challenging assumptions about our contemporary social and political realities and placing architecture in contact with such disciplines as cultural studies literary theory and ethnography These sixteen newly written pieces have been selected for this volume to show how ficto critical writing can be a powerful vehicle for creative architectural practice providing new opportunities to explore modes of writing about architecture both within and beyond the discipline The collection represents a broad range of geographical and cultural positions including indigenous and non Western contexts and includes a foreword and afterword by important thinkers in the domains of architectural criticism Jane Rendell and cultural studies ethnography Stephen Muecke idea journal: (extra) ordinary interiors: practising critical reflection Julieanna Preston, 2021-09-01 Extra Ordinary Interiors features research articles and visual essays by academics research students and practitioners that demonstrate contemporary modes of criticality and reflection on specific interior environments in ways that expand upon that which is ordinary of the everyday common banal or taken for granted

Architectures of Refusal Jill Stoner, Ozayr Saloojee, 2022-11-30 Guest edited by Jill Stoner and Ozayr Saloojee Over the past decade and in a more concentrated form over the past two years there has been increasing recognition of architecture's systemic complicity in constructing and upholding hierarchies of race and class and privileging colonial paradigms that perpetuate spatial and economic inequity This AD issue reveals how designers practitioners scholars and architects are participating in dismantling the major canons of Western architecture The work is both literal and figural taking buildings apart and reconstituting them and challenging mythologies that include drawing as analogue building as object architect as hero and nature as other Architecture has both potential and responsibility for political agency in the public realm The contributions to this issue foreground emancipatory spatial ideas and practices from around the world demonstrating that refusal is no longer just absence and denial but a constructive mode of resistance and action that needs to be approached through subversive urban works design pedagogy and alliances across multiple disciplines Contributors Piper Bernbaum Carwil Bjork James Thresh Govender Lucia Jalón Oyarzun Jennifer Newsom and Tom Carruthers Cong Chi Nguyen Quilian Riano Hannah Le Roux Alberto de Salvatierra Cathy Smith Chat Travieso and Ilze Wolff

Cosmopolitanism in Mexican Visual Culture María Fernández, 2014-01-06 Since the colonial era Mexican art has emerged from an ongoing process of negotiation between the local and the global which frequently involves invention synthesis and transformation of diverse discursive and artistic traditions In this pathfinding book María Fernández uses the concept of cosmopolitanism to explore this important aspect of Mexican art in which visual culture and power relations unite the local and the global the national and the international the universal and the particular She argues that in Mexico as in other colonized regions colonization constructed power dynamics and forms of violence that persisted in the independent nation state Accordingly Fernández presents not only the visual qualities of objects but also the discourses ideas desires and practices that are fundamental to the very existence of visual objects Fern ndez organizes episodes in the history of Mexican art and architecture ranging from the seventeenth century to the end of the twentieth century around the consistent but unacknowledged historical theme of cosmopolitanism allowing readers to discern relationships among various historical periods and works that are new and yet simultaneously dependent on their predecessors She uses case studies of art and architecture produced in response to government commissions to demonstrate that established visual forms and meanings in Mexican art reflect and inform desires expectations memories and ways of being in the world in short that visual culture and cosmopolitanism are fundamental to processes of subjectification and identity

Diasporic Agencies: Mapping the City Otherwise Nishat Awan, 2017-05-15 Diasporic Agencies addresses the neglected subject of how architecture and urban design can respond to the consequences of increasing migration Arguing that diasporic inhabitations can only be understood as the co production of space subjectivity and politics the book explores questions of difference belonging and movement in the city Through focusing on a series of examples it reveals how diasporas produce new types of spaces and develop new subjectivities in the contemporary European metropolis It explores the way in which geo politics affects individual lives and how national and regional borders inscribe themselves onto diasporic bodies The book claims that the multiple belongings of diasporic citizens half here and half there provoke a crisis in the standard modes of architectural representation that tend to homogenise and flatten experience Instead Diasporic Agencies makes a case for a non representational approach where the displacement of the diasporic subject and their consequent reterritorialisation of space are developed as modes of thinking and doing In parallel mapping otherwise is proposed as a tool for spatial practitioners to work with these multi layered spaces The book is aimed at spatial practitioners and theorists of all sorts architects artists geographers urban designers anyone with a general interest in mapping or those interested in working through issues related to migration and the contemporary city
