

BGP Interview Questions and Answers

Ques 1. Can router in different subnet become bgp neighbor?

Yes, BGP neighborship can be formed between Routers across different subnets. Unlike TCP protocols, BGP requires TCP connection across Routers which may be on same subnet or different subnets.

Ques 2. Which layer does BGP work on?

BGP is an application layer protocol and works upon Layer 7 of OSI model.

Ques 3. What is the difference between eBGP multihop and ttl security?

Below is the difference between eBGP Multihop and TTL Security:-

| Parameter      | eBGP Multihop                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | BGP TTL Security                                                                                                                                                     |
|----------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Philosophy     | Establishing BGP neighborship there is a security-related BGP setting called multihop neighborship. eBGP peerings use a default TTL value of 1 hop. If packet is received in more than 1 eBGP neighborship formation, adjacent router will ignore TTL as maximum 1. In order to allow the router to establish multihop neighborship, multihop TTL value of the 0 packet to eBGP routers. | TTL security addresses an eBGP neighborship security issue. If peer, it is security-related multihop neighborship security in the TCP connection security. BGP peer. |
| Range          | eBGP multihop sets the hopcount range so it is more than the default.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | TTL security secures routes and hops.                                                                                                                                |
| Direction      | Unidirectional configuration.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | TTL security is bidirectional configuration.                                                                                                                         |
| Requirement    | Requires to establish eBGP peerings with multihop neighborship and hop count.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Security feature to prevent eBGP peering between routers across the network. It is security-related for the peer.                                                    |
| Command Syntax | neighbor <ip> multihop <value>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | neighbor <ip> ttl-security hops <value>                                                                                                                              |

Ques 4. Which protocol and port number does BGP use for neighborship?

BGP uses TCP protocol and port number 179 for forming neighborship.

Ques 5. How do I configure BGP?

The basic configuration of BGP requires below commands:-

- router bgp <asn>
- neighbor <ip> address remote-as <remote-as-number>

Below is example configuration:-

R1(config)#router bgp 100
R1(config)#neighbor 2.2.2.2 remote-as 200
R1(config)#router bgp 200
R1(config)#neighbor 1.1.1.1 remote-as 100

Ques 6. What is the use of "BGP best-path as-path ignore" command?

As a default behavior of BGP path selection, BGP prefers the path with the shortest AS_PATH. This step is skipped if we have configured the Cisco "BGP best-path as-path ignore" command.

Ques 7. How do I configure BGP with the use of a loopback address?

Below is the configuration to configure BGP with the use of a loopback address:-

R1 Configuration:-

```

Interface Loopback0
ip address 1.1.1.1 255.255.255.255

Interface FastEthernet0/0
ip address 10.0.0.1 255.255.255.0

Router bgp 100
neighbor 2.2.2.2 remote-as 200
neighbor 2.2.2.2 update-source loopback0 <===== this command specifies that the TCP connection with BGP peer should be established using loopback interface.

ip route 1.1.1.1 255.255.255.255 30.0.0.1 <===== Static Route for reachability to remote BGP peer.

End

R2 configuration:-

```

Interface Loopback0
ip address 2.2.2.2 255.255.255.255
