Social and Economic Benefits of Protected Areas Marianne Kettunen, Patrick ten Brink, 2013-09-05 Protected areas PAs contain biodiversity and ecosystems of high conservation value In addition these areas provide a range of benefits both direct and indirect to our societies and economies i e so called ecosystem services These services include for example an ecosystem s ability to regulate floods and climate purify water secure the pollination of crops and create opportunities for recreation culture and tourism This book offers a comprehensive introduction to the socio economic benefits of PAs and PA networks and provides step by step practical guidance on identifying assessing and valuing the various ecosystem services and related benefits provided by PAs It also aims to improve the communication of PA benefits to different stakeholders and the general public It is shown that identifying and valuing the socio economic benefits of PAs can be beneficial for several reasons Demonstrating socio economic importance of a protected site can significantly increase political and stakeholder support for the site and resolve conflicts between different interest groups This can lead to positive changes in policies and decision making Insights on PA benefits are also needed to identify a combination of actions and land use practices that best support the sustainable and equitable utilisation of these benefits while retaining a site's conservation goals. Finally, demonstrating different benefits can help to discover alternative and sustainable sources for financing the management of PAs.
