It was also noted in the report that 12% of all deaths related to motor vehicle crashes in the country are pedestrian fatalities. Most of the safety technology to date in vehicles has been applied to protect the occupants in the vehicle. What can vehicle manufacturers do to reduce pedestrian fatalities? With research being focused on two major fronts: methods to sense the presence of pedestrians and warn drivers of their location and ways to design vehicles that can help not only adults of various age groups to survive an impact between them and a vehicle but also children that are smaller than most adults, the technical papers in this SAE Progress in Technology Series book explore ways the automobile can be designed to help reduce fatalities and injuries when a pedestrian and vehicle meet during an impact. Woodcock-Johnson IV Nancy Mather, Lynne E. Primary Process Thinking Robert R. Holt, 2008-12-19 Volume one of this comprehensive approach to one of Freud's most important conceptual achievements the theory of thinking examines the emergence and changes in his conceptions of primary and secondary process thought in their theoretical and clinical contexts Unlike most treatments which emphasize their embeddedness in metapsychology the text demonstrates the empirical grounding of these concepts in observation and describes how it led to a method of quantitative measurement A summary of major theoretically relevant findings with that method plus a critical review of post Freudian reexaminations of primary process leads to a reformulation

of the psychoanalytic theory of thinking that is in Rubinstein's term protoneurophysiological as consistent as possible with contemporary knowledge in the brain sciences. In so doing the author attempts to convert a psychoanalytic theory into a set of testable propositions using objectively quantifiable scientific concepts. Moreover, he shows how data obtained with his method can be used to confront the theoretical propositions, verifying some, rejecting some, and significantly modifying others. Volume two is an enclosed compact disc. The first ten chapters constitute a detailed scoring manual designed to be self-teaching for applying the concepts of primary process, its controls and defenses to data from the Rorschach and Thematic Apperception Tests, dreams, and free verbal data. The remaining chapters treat its reliability and validity, including a critical summary of over one hundred researches from around the world demonstrating how it can be used not only to test psychoanalytic propositions but to illuminate issues in clinical psychiatry, clinical and developmental psychology, and personality. A concluding chapter points to many promising directions for further research. The Woman Citizen, 1923
