Bureau of Labor Statistics,1926 Admission to American Trade Unions (Classic Reprint) French Eugene Wolfe,2016-12-27 Excerpt from Admission to American Trade Unions Another form of cooperation which appeared with the movement toward general union from 1830 on was the recommendation by a central convention Of trades of the organization Of certain classes of workers For example the National Trades Union although in 1835 it directed the workingmen of its constituent societies to oppose by all honest means the multiplying of all descriptions Of labor for females and in the following year again deplored the evil of competition with women advised the trades affected by the work Of women to admit them to membership or to organize them into auxiliary societies 3 Furthermore the National Trades Union at this time sanctioned the formation of societies composed Of workmen from more than one trade or the admission into any trade society of workmen from different trades 4 The Boston cordwainers society in 1840 thus extended the privileges of membership to outside workmen Of unorganized trades This liberal policy was seldom adopted as a means Of securing members inas much as it involved a disregard of trade lines The local character Of unionism rendered as yet impossible the formation and much less the enforcement of a concerted plan with reference to the composition Of union membership About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Admission to American Trade Unions French Eugene Wolfe,1912 Columbia Studies in the Social Sciences ,1913 The Ordinance Making Powers of the President of the United States James Hart,1925 African Americans in the U.S. Economy Cecilia A.
