Catalogue, 1873. [With] A list of books added, Jan. 1876-Jan. 1878 Indianapolis publ. libr, 1873      Journeys Into Madness Gemma Blackshaw, Sabine Wieber, 2012-06-01 At the turn of the century Sigmund Freud's investigation of the mind represented a particular journey into mental illness but it was not the only exploration of this territory in the Austro-Hungarian Empire Sanatoriums were the new tourism destinations psychiatrists were collecting art works produced by patients and writers were developing innovative literary techniques to convey a character's interior life This collection of essays uses the framework of journeys in order to highlight the diverse artistic cultural and medical responses to a peculiarly Viennese anxiety about the madness of modern times The travellers of these journeys vary from patients to doctors artists to writers architects to composers and royalty to tourists in engaging with their histories the contributors reveal the different ways in which madness was experienced and represented in Vienna 1900      The People of the Book and the Camera Ofra Amihay, 2022-06-30 Amihay offers a pioneering study of the unique nexus between literature and photography in the works of Hebrew authors Exploring the use of photography both as a textual element and through the inclusion of actual images Amihay shows how the presence of visual elements in a textual work of fiction has a powerful subversive function Contemporary Hebrew authors have turned to photography as a tool to disrupt narratives and give voice to marginalized sectors in Israel including women immigrants Mizrahi Israelis LGBTQ individuals second generation Holocaust survivors and traumatized army veterans Amihay discusses standard novels alongside graphic novels challenging the dominance of the written word in literature In addition to providing a poetic analysis of imagetext pages Amihay addresses the social and political issues authors are responding to including gender roles Zionism the ethnic divide in Israel and its Palestinian minority In exploring these avant garde novels and their authors Amihay elevates their significance and calls for a more expansive definition of canonical Hebrew literature      Global West, American Frontier David M. Wrobel, 2013-10-15 This thoughtful examination of a century of travel writing about the American West overturns a variety of popular and academic stereotypes Looking at both European and American travelers accounts of the West from de Tocqueville's Democracy in America to William Least Heat Moon's Blue Highways David Wrobel offers a counter narrative to the nation's romantic entanglement with its western past and suggests the importance of some long overlooked authors lively and perceptive witnesses to our history who deserve new attention Prior to the professionalization of academic disciplines the reading public gained much of its knowledge about the world from travel writing Travel writers found a wide and respectful audience for their reports on history geography and the natural world in addition to reporting on aboriginal cultures before the advent of anthropology as a discipline Although in recent decades western historians have paid little attention to travel writing Wrobel demonstrates that this genre in fact offers an important and rich understanding of the American West one that extends and complicates a simple reading of the West that promotes the notions of Manifest Destiny or American exceptionalism Wrobel finds counterpoints to the mythic West of the nineteenth century in such varied accounts as George Catlin's Adventures of the Ojibbeway and Ioway Indians in England France and Belgium 1852 Richard Francis Burton's The City of the Saints 1861 and Mark Twain's Following the Equator 1897 reminders of the messy and contradictory world that people navigated in the past much as they do in the present His book is a testament to the instructive ways in which the best travel writers have represented the West

Writing travel, writing life Pia Sójka,2023-01-10 The book compares the texts of three Swiss authors Ella Maillart Annemarie Schwarzenbach and Nicolas Bouvier The focus is on their trip from Geneva to Kabul that Ella Maillart and Annemarie Schwarzenbach made together in 1939 1940 and Nicolas Bouvier 1953 1954 with the artist Thierry Vernet The comparison shows the strong connection between the journey and life and between ars vivendi and travel literature This book also gives an overview of and organises the numerous terms genres and categories that already exist to describe various travel texts and proposes the new term travelling narration The travelling narration looks at the text from a narratological perspective that distinguishes the author narrator and protagonist within the narration In the examination ten motifs could be found to characterise the travelling narration Culture Crossing Borders Freedom Time and Space the Aesthetics of Landscapes Writing and Reading the Self and as the Other Home Religion and Spirituality as well as the Journey The importance of each individual motif does not only apply in the 1930s or 1950s but also transmits important findings for living together today and in the future

Journeys of the Mind Peter Brown,2025-10-28 A beautifully written personal account of the discovery of late antiquity by one of the world's most influential and distinguished historians The end of the ancient world was long regarded by historians as a time of decadence decline and fall In his career long engagement with this era the widely acclaimed and pathbreaking historian Peter Brown has shown however that the neglected half millennium now known as late antiquity was in fact crucial to the development of modern Europe and the Middle East In Journeys of the Mind Brown recounts his life and work describing his efforts to recapture the spirit of an age As he and other scholars opened up the history of the classical world in its last centuries to the wider world of Eurasia and northern Africa they discovered previously overlooked areas of religious and cultural creativity as well as foundational institution building A respect for diversity and outreach to the non European world relatively recent concerns in other fields have been a matter of course for decades among the leading scholars of late antiquity Documenting both his own intellectual development and the emergence of a new and influential field of study Brown describes his childhood and education in Ireland his university and academic training in England and his extensive travels particularly in the eastern Mediterranean and the Middle East He discusses fruitful interactions with the work of scholars and colleagues that include the British anthropologist Mary Douglas and the French theorist Michel Foucault and offers fascinating snapshots of such far flung places as colonial Sudan midcentury Oxford and prerevolutionary Iran With Journeys of the Mind Brown offers an essential account of the grand endeavor to reimagine a decisive historical moment
