Assessment Practices

Types of Assessments

- 1. Diagnostic: assess a learner's knowledge and skills before instruction begins to identify strengths and needs so that the teacher can modify instruction accordingly (Kagan, 2009).
- 2. Formative: designed to help students identify areas that need more instruction, supporting the day-to-day learning process (Kagan, 2009).
- 3. Summative: determine learner's achievement at the end of a unit, semester, or course, measuring their learning at the end of the term and comparing it to state standards (Kagan, 2009).

"Language is the great sign of a nation. It tells you where it is, and who it is. It is the soul of a nation. It is the heart of a nation. It is the life of a nation."

—John F. Kennedy

Alignment of Assessment

Assessment is a key component of the learning process. It is a way to measure a learner's knowledge and skills, and to identify areas where they need more instruction. Assessment can be used in a variety of ways, including to diagnose a learner's needs, to monitor their progress, and to evaluate their learning outcomes. When used effectively, assessment can help teachers to tailor their instruction to meet the needs of individual learners, and to ensure that all learners are achieving the desired learning outcomes.
