When comparing these variables to age, we get that income is more strongly related to age than the probability of being employed. This makes sense, since people are more likely to start getting their income as they get older, whereas the probability of being employed is more or less constant (that is, age has little effect on employment). See also Table 1.

This model produced results that were not as good as we hoped. The model was not able to predict the results of the experiment. The model was not able to predict the results of the experiment. The model was not able to predict the results of the experiment.
