Article Writing For The 21st Century:

The 21st Century Guide To Writing Articles In The Biomedical Sciences Shiri Diskin,2018-03-09 We live in an unprecedented era of flourishing of scientific publishing However many professionals in the biomedical sciences find writing articles to be a daunting task The book is meant to serve as a practical writing guide that covers the writing process from the project s inception until online distribution of the published article The book covers the framework for constructing a scientific study into a coherent narrative that can later be easily translated into a written manuscript The content of each article section in accordance with the IMRAD format is covered and many details for the construction of additional submission materials are provided Characteristics of papers reporting on specific types of research are presented as well as article types other than the general full research article The book is full of resources for additional reading and learning There are many writing guides on the market Most of them are general cover a wide range of scientific writing and are mainly aimed at students This book is best suited for young professionals who are a few years out of school They no longer enjoy the benefit of close mentoring by a thesis adviser or equivalent but still lack the experience to lead writing projects on their own Through her experience of teaching young professionals and editing their work Dr Diskin has learned their unique set of needs and the book has been written in an attempt to address them Dr Diskin addresses the reader in the second person with an ever supportive tone Importantly the practicalities of writing articles in today s interconnected environment are discussed throughout the book Topics such as coordinating the writing in a multinational team use of different types of software in the writing process and resources available online to support the writer are addressed in detail Related Link s

Designing Web-Based Applications for 21st Century Writing Classrooms George Pullman, Gu Baotong, 2016-12-05 Designing Web Based Applications for 21st Century Writing Classrooms brings together for the first time a group of scholars and teachers who have been developing on their own initiative web based solutions to technical and professional writing instructional problems In industry the perennial question is whether to buy or build but in academia for various reasons buy is rarely an option Individual faculty members do not have the money to pay for software solutions and often their interests are too local or small scale to warrant institutional level involvement In addition the design of commercial applications from vendors typically does not take into account the unique needs and considerations of teachers of writing and often reflects a design ideology quite different from theirs This is why so many writing teachers have turned to open source solutions and in the process of learning how to tweak them to make them more responsive to their specific needs why so many of these teachers have developed programming and design skills Beyond exigency the motivation for becoming proficient at interface and database design comes from the observation that the nature of writing is changing dramatically Text is no longer an object It has become a place of interaction consumers are becoming producers And the work of technical and professional communication indeed the work of writing teachers more generally is becoming increasingly involved in the design and implementation of places of interaction Words have become data texts are becoming communities 21st Century Communication: A Reference Handbook William F.
