

Use of activated carbon may adversely affect resistivity. This effect may be controlled by use of the lowest level of organic contamination, use mixtures of polishing resins with special carbons in conjunction with additional treatment steps, such as reverse osmosis, natural carbons, ultraviolet oxidation, or Ultrafiltration.

2.3 REAGENT WATER QUALITY

2.3.1. Quality Guidelines

Several guidelines for reagent water quality, based on contaminant levels, are available, but the final test is the appropriateness for the analysis. Table 2.3: I lists some characteristics of various qualities of reagent water.

High-quality reagent water, having a minimum resistivity of 10 megohm-cm, 25°C (in line), typically is prepared by distillation, deionization, or reverse osmosis treatment of feedwater followed by polishing with a mixed-bed deionizer and passage through a 0.2µm-pore membrane filter. Alternatively treat by reverse osmosis followed by carbon adsorption and deionization. Determine quality at the time of production. Mixed-bed deionizers typically add small amounts of organic matter to water, especially if the beds are fresh. Resistivity should be >10 megohm-cm at 25°C, measured in-line. Resistivity measurements will not detect organics or nonionized contaminants, nor will they provide an accurate assessment of ionic contaminants at the microgram-per-liter level.

Medium-quality water typically is produced by distillation or deionization. Resistivity should be >1 megohm-cm at 25°C.

TABLE 2.3: I REAGENT WATER SPECIFICATIONS*

Quality Parameter	High	Medium	Low
Resistivity, megohm-cm at 25°C	>10	>1	0.1
Conductivity, µmho/cm at 25° C	<0.1	<1	10
SiO ₂ , mg/L	<0.05	<0.1	<1

Low-quality water should have a minimum resistivity of 0.1 megohm-cm, and may be used for glassware washing, preliminary rinsing of glassware, and as feedwater for production of higher-grade waters.

The pH of high-or medium-quality water cannot be measured accurately without contaminating the water. Measure other constituents as required for individual tests.

High-quality water cannot be stored without significant degradation; produce it continuously and use it immediately after processing. Medium-quality water may be stored, but keep storage to a minimum and provide quality consistent with the intended use. Store only in materials that protect the water from contaminations, such as TFE and glass for organics analysis or plastics for metals. Store low-quality water in materials that protect the water from contamination.
