Affect And Emotion A New Social Science Understanding:

Affect and Emotion Margaret Wetherell, 2012-03-05 In recent years there has been a surge of interest in affect and emotion. Scholars want to discover how people are moved and understand embodied social action, feelings and passions. How do social formations grab people? How do roller coasters of contempt, patriotism, hate and euphoria power public life? This book systematically reviews research on affect and emotion in neuroscience, social psychology, sociology and political science. It develops a critique of the turn to affect and argues for an approach based on affective practice. It provides new analyses to explain how affect travels, settles, circulates and coalesces.

Affect and Emotion, 2012 Emotion is an important topic in social science. This work from a leading voice in the field not only accessibly outlines the research from different fields but is the first to pull it together to propose an agenda setting proposal for a definitive approach.

Desire After Affect Marie-Luise Angerer, 2014-11-24 Desire is a term often used in conjunction with the subject. This desire is directed towards the real, which is defined as the generic core of the linguistic order. As a result of the focus on affect, the three terms: desire, the subject, the real have been fundamentally shaken up and called into question. Affect in various forms is now a matter of concern across a wide range of disciplines, including neuroscience, psychology, the humanities and social sciences. All of these fields have a declared interest in affect, in emotions and sensations, in pathos, passions and the senses. Desire After Affect argues that this affective euphoria cannot be explained solely in terms of a repression of language, logos and reason. It argues that the affective turn is symptomatic of a fundamental shift in modes of thinking about the human condition. It explores what this means for the human and the posthuman animal and machine and calls for a new theory of subjectivation a philosophy of media affect Emotion in Discourse J. Lachlan Mackenzie, Laura Alba-Juez, 2019-03-15 Interest in human emotion no longer equates to unscientific speculation 21st century humanities scholars are paying serious attention to our capacity to express emotions and giving rigorous explanations of affect in language We are unquestionably witnessing an emotional turn not only in linguistics but also in other fields of scientific research Emotion in Discourse follows from and reflects on this scholarly awakening to the world of emotion and in particular to its intricate relationship with human language The book presents both the state of the art and the latest research in an effort to unravel the various workings of the expression of emotion in discourse It takes an interdisciplinary approach for emotion is a multifarious phenomenon whose functions in language are enlightened by such other disciplines as psychology neurology or communication studies The volume shows not only how emotion manifests at different linguistic levels but also how it relates to aspects like linguistic appraisal emotional intelligence or humor as well as covering its occurrence in various genres including scientific discourse As such the book contributes to an emerging interdisciplinary field which could be labeled emotionology transcending previous linguistic work and providing an updated characterization of how emotion functions in human discourse Emotions and English Language Teaching Sarah Benesch, 2017-02-17 Taking a critical approach that considers the role of power and resistance to power in teachers affective lives Sarah Benesch examines the relationship between English language teaching and emotions in postsecondary classrooms The exploration takes into account implicit feeling rules that may drive institutional expectations of teacher performance and affect teachers responses to and decisions about pedagogical matters Based on interviews with postsecondary English language teachers the book analyzes ways in which they negotiate tension theorized as emotion labor between feeling rules and teachers professional training and or experience in particularly challenging areas of teaching high stakes literacy testing responding to student writing plagiarism and attendance Discussion of this rich interview data offers an expanded and nuanced understanding of English language teaching one positing teachers emotion labor as a framework for theorizing emotions critically and as a tool of teacher agency and resistance Analyzing Affective Societies Antje Kahl, 2019-03-07 In recent years research in the social sciences and cultural studies has increasingly paid attention to the generative power of emotions and affects that is to the questions of how far they shape social and cultural processes while being simultaneously shaped by them However the literature on the methodological implications of researching affects and emotions remains rather limited As a collective outcome of the Collaborative Research Center CRC Affective Societies at Freie Universität Berlin Analyzing Affective Societies introduces procedures and methodologies applied by researchers of the CRC for investigating societies as affective societies Presenting scholarly research practices by means of concrete examples and case studies the book does not contain any conclusive methodological advice but rather engages in illustrative descriptions of the authors research practices

Analyzing Affective Societies unveils different research approaches procedures and practices of a variety of disciplines from the humanities arts and social sciences It will appeal to students and researchers interested in fields such as Qualitative Research Methods Emotions Affect Cultural Studies and Social Sciences Emotion, Affective Practices, and the Past in the Present Laurajane Smith, Margaret Wetherell, Gary Campbell, 2018-06-14 Emotion Affective Practices and the Past in the Present is a response to debates in the humanities and social sciences about the use of emotion This timely and unique book explores the ways emotion is embroiled and used in contemporary engagements with the past particularly in contexts such as heritage sites museums commemorations political rhetoric and ideology debates over issues of social memory and touristic uses of heritage sites Including contributions from academics and practitioners in a range of countries the book reviews significant and conflicting academic debates on the nature and expression of affect and emotion As a whole the book makes an argument for a pragmatic understanding of affect and in doing so outlines Wetherell's concept of affective practice a concept utilised in most of the chapters in this book Since debates about affect and emotion can often be confusing and abstract the book aims to clarify these debates and through the use of case studies draw out their implications for theory and practice within heritage and museum studies Emotion Affective Practices and the Past in the Present should be essential reading for students academics and professionals in the fields of heritage and museum studies The book will also be of interest to those in other disciplines such as social psychology education archaeology tourism studies cultural studies media studies anthropology sociology and history Honour, Violence and Emotions in History Carolyn Strange, Robert Cribb, Christopher E.
