The Apologists and Paul Todd D. Still, David E. Wilhite, 2024-06-13 This volume examines the use of Paul's writing within the work of ante-Nicene apologetic writers. It takes apologetics as a broad genre in which many early Christian writers participated, offering rhetorical defenses for emerging aspects of doctrine rooted in understanding of the scriptures and often specifically the writings of Paul. The volume interacts with the writings of many significant apologetic writers including Melito of Sardis, Clement of Alexandria, Tatian, Tertullian, Hippolytus, and Cyprian. The chapters examine how these early Christian writers used the letters of Paul to develop their own philosophical ideas and defenses of aspects of the emerging Christian faith. The internationally renowned contributors have all been specially commissioned for this volume and an afterword by Todd D. Still considers the question of whether or not Paul was an apologist himself. Letters and Homilies for Jewish Christians Ben Witherington III, Ben Witherington, 2007-11-15 Letters and Homilies for Jewish Christians is the second of three volumes extending Ben Witherington's innovative socio-rhetorical analysis of New Testament books to the latter Pauline and non-Pauline corpora. A third volume will extend the focus on Letters and Homilies for Hellenized Christians begun in the first volume. By dividing the volumes according to the socio-religious contexts for which they were written, Witherington sheds fresh light on the documents, their provenance, character, and importance. Throughout, Witherington shows his thorough knowledge of recent literature on these texts and focuses his attention on the unique insights brought about through socio-rhetorical analysis that either reinforces or corrects those gleaned from other approaches. Bridging the Horizons sections point to the relevance of the text for believers today, making this volume of special value to pastors and general readers as well as to students and scholars. Features and Benefits: Provides commentary from a prominent New Testament scholar. Offers a fresh look at Hebrews, James, and Jude in light of recent study and socio-rhetorical concerns. Includes Closer Look sections that explore contemporary issues in more detail. Letters of William Gaddis William Gaddis, 2013-03-14 Now recognized as one of the giants of postwar American fiction, William Gaddis (1922-98) shunned the spotlight during his life, which makes this collection of his letters a revelation. Beginning in 1930 when Gaddis was at boarding school and ending in September 1998 a few months before his death, these letters function as a kind of autobiography and are all the more valuable because Gaddis was not an autobiographical writer. Here we see him forging his first novel, The Recognitions (1955), while living in Mexico, fighting in a revolution in Costa Rica, and working in Spain, France, and North Africa. Over the next twenty years, he struggles to find time to write the National Book Award-winning J R (1975) amid the complications of work and family, deals with divorce and disillusionment, before reviving his career with Carpenter's Gothic (1985), then teaches himself enough about the law to indite A Frolic of His Own (1994), which earned him another NBA. Returning to a topic he first wrote about in the 1940s, he finishes his last novel, Agape, as he lay dying. The Blackwell Companion to The New Testament David E.
