Black Africa 1945 1980 Economic Decolonization And Arrested Development:

Black Africa, 1945 - 80, 1989 Black Africa, 1945-1980 D. K. Fieldhouse, Emeritus Professor of Imperial and Naval History and Emeritus Fellow D K Fieldhouse, 2010-11-26 In what ways did economic considerations affect the decision by Britain and France to make their Black African colonies independent Why were early expectations that independence would lead to rapid and sustained economic development in Africa for the most part disappointed This title originally published in 1986 seeks to tackle these two important and strongly debated issues The main aim and value of the book is to take a broad view of this huge subject pulling together material on most parts of Black Africa south of the Sahara and north of the Limpopo so that the problem can be seen as a whole It takes account of a wide range of possible and actual factors which have influenced African economic development weaving them into a single analysis including the colonial inheritance the impact of the fluctuating international economy policies adopted by African governments and indigenous factors such as climate drought and human resources The book is written to be understood without difficulty by non specialists and is intended to act as an introduction to its subject for university students Black Africa, 1945-80 David Kenneth Fieldhouse, 1986 History of independence underdevelopment and unsatisfactory economic development in Africa south of Sahara considers the role of France and role of UK at the end of colonialism as well as the economic implications of colonialism examines the economic growth trends from 1960 to 1980 analyses the role of inappropriate government policies economic relations the environment drought and attitudes towards modernization includes case studies of Ghana the Cote d'Ivoire Kenya Nigeria Senegal and Tanzania Bibliography Black Africa David K. Fieldhouse, 1986 Black Africa 1945-80 D. K. Fieldhouse, 1986 Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology Wallace C. Olsen, 1991 The first of an eight volume series The Literature of the Agricultural Sciences this book analyzes the trends in the published literature of agricultural economics and rural sociology during the past fifty years It uses citation analysis and other bibliometric techniques to identify the primary journals report series and monographs of current importance to the developed industrial countries as well as those in the Third World Africa Peter Lewis, 2018-02-20 This book focuses on the historical construction of African states the modes of political control in the region and the character of political elites It examines the nature of political legitimacy and the avenues of participation or withdrawal pursued by various popular sectors The Rise and Fall of Modern Empires, Volume III Sarah Stockwell, 2017-03-02 Few aspects of the history of modern empires are of such significance as their economics and politics These factors are inextricably linked in many analyses have generated extensive historiographical debate and are currently the subject of some of the freshest and liveliest scholarship The articles and chapters which are brought together in this volume relate not only to the European colonial empires but also to the Napoleonic Russian and Japanese empires The collection is strongly comparative in approach with the articles arranged into thematic sections on the place of politics and economics in the rise and fall of modern empires the causal relationship between modern empires and colonial global and metropolitan economic transformations and the technologies of rule which provided the frameworks through which colonial economies were managed and rights defined The collection reflects new approaches as well as the continuing importance of issues addressed in an older historiography and the thematic arrangement produces useful juxtapositions of older and newer literatures The substantial introduction explores the themes and identifies key historiographical trends in relation to each

Majority State Ownership of Oil and Mining Sectors in Africa John James Quinn, 2024-09-30 Majority State Ownership of Oil and Mining Sectors in Africa The Resource Curse Undermined shows that countries in sub Saharan Africa with majority state ownership of their major oil or mineral export sectors suffered from more severe versions of the natural resource curse than other similar countries Examining natural resource exporting nations in sub Saharan Africa between 1966 to 2000 Quinn shows that on average states with majority state ownership of these sectors featured lower growth lower incomes declining alternative export sectors more debt lower levels of investment lower levels of political and civil rights and more domestic conflict than other similar countries These results remained fairly consistent across both cross country data as well as in paired case studies One surprise finding is that these countries either had depreciating currencies or did not feature high levels of currency appreciation on average which is inconsistent with resource curse literature predictions Rather most countries with majority state ownership had high levels of currency overvaluation which operated in a similar manner as currency appreciation This work should appeal to students and faculty interested in the political economy of development the natural resource curse and African development as well as politicians policy makers and NGO workers working in these areas The strong recommendation of the book is that governments should control 50% or less of these sectors

The Long Struggle against Malaria in Tropical Africa James L. A. Webb, Jr, 2014-03-31 The Long Struggle against Malaria in Tropical Africa investigates the changing entomological parasitological and medical understandings of vectors parasites and malarial disease that have shaped the programs of malaria control and altered the transmission of malarial infections It examines the history of malaria control and eradication in the contexts of racial thought population movements demographic growth economic change urbanization warfare and politics It will be useful for students of medicine and public health for those who are involved with malaria research studies and for those who work on the contemporary malaria control and elimination campaigns in tropical Africa
