Koutroufinis,Arthur Araujo,2023-06-28 Many life scientists implicitly assume a materialistic metaphysics that is based on the worldview of the 19th century This sort of reductionistic metaphysics does not do justice to the complexity of biological phenomena leaving many features of living processes unexplained The authors of this book explore the viability of process metaphysics to advance our understanding of fundamental biological concepts such as organism ontogeny agency teleology environment and normativity Based on the metaphysics of Alfred North Whitehead and other process thinkers the authors ascribe subjective interiority to all living beings from unicellular organisms to the most complex animals This book highlights the uniqueness and intrinsic value of living beings It presents a new approach to essential dimensions of the phenomenon of life with the aim of opening up new horizons in the thinking of philosophers philosophers of biology life scientists and environmentalists

Form and Transformation Gerry Webster,Brian Goodwin,1996-11-13 Darwin s theory of evolution by natural selection fails to explain the forms of organisms because it focuses on inheritance and survival not on how organisms are generated The first part of this 2007 book by Gerry Webster looks critically of the conceptual structure of Darwinism and describes the limitation of the theory of evolution as a comprehensive biological theory arguing that a theory of biological form is needed to understand the structure of organisms and their transformations as revealed in taxonomy The second part of the book by Brian Goodwin explores such a theory in terms of organisms as developing and transforming dynamic systems within which gene action is to be understood A number of specific examples including tetrapod limb formation and Drosophila development are used to illustrate how these hierarchically organized dynamic fields undergo robust symmetry breaking cascades to produce generic forms
