Learning at the Crossroads of Theory and Practice Piet Van den Bossche, Wim H. Gijssels, Richard G. Milder, 2012-03-19

Core concepts in education are changing. For example, professional performance or expertise is not uniquely the fruit of specialist knowledge acquired at professional schools but the sum of influences exerted by a complex web of continuous learning opportunities for which an individual is well or ill prepared by their schools and their workplace. The key contributory factors to professional expertise are how professional schools connect to professional practice, how schools prepare graduates for continuous learning, and how the workplace endorses continuous development. Thus, the question this volume addresses: how to design learning and working environments that facilitate the integration of these three elements is at the heart of contemporary pedagogical theory. The authors also ask a second vital question: how do we educate learners that go on to maximize their life's learning opportunities by regulating their own ongoing learning? Learning at the Crossroads of Theory and Practice argues that with the theory of learning at a crossroads, this is an unprecedented opportunity for learning about learning. The book sheds light on different elements of this challenge: integrating theory and practice in business education; generating and fully exploiting workplace learning opportunities; and enriching our classrooms by coupling theoretical knowledge with the richness of real life experience.

Student Self-Assessment as a Process for Learning Zi Yan, 2022-08-08

Covering both higher education and school education, this book contributes to the field of assessment by providing a systematic account of student self-assessment based on a consistent conceptualisation. Yan advocates viewing self-assessment as an active and reflective process and using it as a learning strategy rather than an assessment method. He builds on a newly developed self-assessment model adopting a process perspective and synthesises a series of interrelated empirical investigations into the whole chain of student self-assessment research. The research encompassed in the volume spans from self-assessment practices and measurement through predictors of self-assessment, its interweaved relationship with self-regulated learning and feedback literacy, impact on student learning outcomes, to designing sustainable self-assessment interventions. The empirical evidence is from a wide range of current scholarship to ensure that the principles and implications conveyed are applicable internationally. Policymakers, students, and scholars in educational assessment, educational psychology, and teaching and instruction will find the theoretical explorations and empirical investigations contained within useful to show how student self-assessment could be better conceptualised, researched, and practised.

Handbook of International Large-Scale Assessment Leslie Rutkowski, Matthias von Davier, David Rutkowski, 2013-11-12

Technological and statistical advances along with a strong interest in gathering more information about the state of our educational systems have made it possible to assess more students in more countries more often and in more subject domains. The Handbook of International Large Scale Assessment: Background, Technical Issues, and Methods of Data Analysis brings together recognized scholars in the field of ILSA, behavioral statistics, and policy to develop a detailed guide that goes beyond database user manuals After highlighting the importance of ILSA data to policy and research the book reviews methodological aspects and features of the studies based on operational considerations analytics and reporting The book then describes methods of interest to advanced graduate students researchers and policy analysts who have a good grounding in quantitative methods but who are not necessarily quantitative methodologists In addition it provides a detailed exposition of the technical details behind these assessments including the test design the sampling framework and estimation methods with a focus on how these issues impact analysis choices

Myers, 2016-01-19 Ntoumanis and Myers have done sport and exercise science researchers and students a tremendous service in producing An Introduction to Intermediate and Advanced Statistical Analyses for Sport and Exercise Scientists This book has an outstanding compilation of comprehensible chapters dealing with the important concepts and technical minutia of the statistical analyses that sport and exercise science scholars use or should be using in their efforts to conduct meaningful research in the field It is a resource that all sport and exercise scientists and their students should have on their book shelves Robert Eklund School of Sport University of Stirling UK Motivating to have a statistics text devoted to enabling researchers studying sport and exercise science to apply the most sophisticated analytical techniques to their data Authors hit the mark between using technical language as necessary and user friendly terms or translations to keep users encouraged Text covers traditional and well used tools but also less common and more complex tools but always with familiar examples to make their explanations come alive As a dynamic systems theorist and developmentalist I would love to see more researchers in my area create study designs that would enable the use of tools outlined here such as multilevel structural equation modeling MSEM or mediation moderation analyses to uncover cascades of relations among subsystems contributing to motor performance over time This text can facilitate that outcome Beverly D Ulrich School of Kinesiology University of Michigan USA The domain of quantitative methods is constantly evolving and expanding This means that there is tremendous pressure on researchers to stay current both in terms of best practices and improvements in more traditional methods as well as increasingly complex new methods With this volume Ntoumanis and Myers present a nice cross section of both helping sport and exercise science researchers to address old questions in better ways and even more excitingly to address new questions entirely I have no doubt that this volume will quickly become a lovingly dog eared companion for students and researchers helping them to continue to move the field forward Gregory R Hancock University of Maryland and Center for Integrated Latent Variable Research CILVR USA
