Balance Of Nature Reviews:

The Balance of Nature? Stuart L. Pimm, 1991 Why the balance of nature Resilience Temporal variability and the individual species The effects of food web structure The variability of the environment Nonlinear dynamics strange attractors and chaos Extinctions Species differences and community structure as explanations of why introductions fail Patterns in species composition Food web structure and community persistence Community assembly or why are there so many kinds of communities Small scale experimental removals of species Food webs and resistance Changes in total density and species composition The consequences of introductions and extinctions Multispecies models and their limitations Conclusions and caveats

The Balance of Nature and Human Impact Klaus Rohde, 2013-02-14 It is clear that nature is undergoing rapid changes as a result of human activities such as industry agriculture travel fisheries and urbanisation What effects do these activities have Are they disturbing equilibria in ecological populations and communities thus upsetting the balance of nature or are they enhancing naturally occurring disequilibria perhaps with even worse consequences It is often argued that large scale fluctuations in climate and sea levels have occurred over and over again in the geological past long before human activities could possibly have had any impact and that human effects are very small compared to those that occur naturally Should we conclude that human activity cannot significantly affect the environment or are these naturally occurring fluctuations actually being dangerously enhanced by humans This book examines these questions first by providing evidence for equilibrium and non equilibrium conditions in relatively undisturbed ecosystems and second by examining human induced effects

Her Place in the Woods David Hakensen, 2025-09-10 The biography of one of Minnesota's most beloved nature writers from her career in the city to her rustic cabin on Gunflint Lake During the late 1950s through the early 1970s Helen Hoover's stories and essays of life in the wilderness on northern Minnesota's Gunflint Lake published in popular magazines and several bestselling books including The Gift of the Deer in 1966 and A Place in the Woods in 1969 found millions of fans and earned her accolades alongside nature writers like Sigurd Olson Rachel Carson Sally Carrighar and Calvin Rutstrum Hoover's own unlikely history of leaving a corporate career in Chicago for a small cabin without electricity or running water with no interest in hunting or fishing is just one chapter of the remarkable life that David Hakensen describes in Her Place in the Woods This first complete biography illuminates how

Helen Hoover 1910 1984 made a place for herself and for countless readers in as she put it the world of her time Hoover defied convention Self trained and without an academic degree she worked in the male dominated metallurgical field as a researcher at International Harvester where she solved a long standing problem with the manufacture of discs for farm implements and earned a patent She and her husband Adrian a commercial artist had long dreamed of moving to a remote cabin in the woods As they started the long return drive to Chicago after a summer spent on Gunflint Lake they finally made the leap quitting their jobs with a long distance phone call from Grand Marais and figuring out the rest as they went The Hoovers were woefully unprepared for life off the grid and slowly learned how to convert sheds into chicken coops and fend off bears Social encounters presented their own challenges with Helen s fiery personality leading to clashes with hunters and other Gunflint neighbors Gradually the Hoovers settled into the rhythms of their remote homestead and Helen would craft a prolific literary livelihood from her keen observations of nature and encounters with animals in the surrounding woods Her Place in the Woods captures both an awakening to the power and fragility of the natural world and the efforts and talents of an extraordinary woman defining herself as a writer Though Helen Hoover would move on from the secluded North Woods as she wrote in her final book The Years of the Forest From this time on it would be both here and with me wherever I might be as long as I should live

Seeking Sustainability in an Age of Complexity Graham Harris, 2007-06-14 Seeking Sustainability in an Age of Complexity explains the difficulties of sustainability and why collapse can occur In the last twenty years the theory of complexity has been developed complex systems science CSS speaks to natural systems and particularly to ecological social and economic systems and their interaction Due to the growing concern over the huge changes occurring in the global environment such as climate change deforestation habitat fragmentation and loss of biodiversity Graham Harris sets out what has been learned in an attempt to understand the implications of these changes and suggests ways to move forward This book discusses a number of emerging tools for the management of unruly complexity which facilitate stronger regional dialogues about knowledge and values which will be of interest to ecologists sociologists economists natural resource managers and scientists in State and local governments and those involved in water and landscape management
