

Ava Lifestages Cot

Thank you for choosing this product to be a part of your home. Each Plyroom piece is made for life from sustainably forested materials. Your choice is helping support environmental initiatives through our contribution to 1% for the Planet.

INTENTIONALLY SIMPLE & HONEST DESIGN

This product is designed with a modern interpretation of mortise and tenon joinery, the oldest and strongest form of joinery used by carpenters for thousands of years. The precise interlocking parts are displayed throughout, and the pieces fit together like a jigsaw, emphasising the characteristics of the natural materials used.

Each mortise and tenon joint is locked in place with a handmade oak dowel.

MINIMAL PACKAGING

You might notice that your item is packaged simply. This is intentional to minimise waste as much as possible. The plastic wrapping used can be recycled at many recycling centres rather than going to landfill.

ASSEMBLING YOUR FURNITURE

§ Do

We ask that you take your time in assembling this piece of furniture. All pieces are designed to lock together with precision.

Use a mallet to press mortise and tenon joints together so they are flush. If you don't have a mallet a hammer covered with a soft towel is fine.

Check all joints are flush before inserting the oak dowels.

Use a hammer to tap dowels in and fasten pieces together. Make sure the dowel is straight before you hammer.

You may choose to wait until all pieces are together to insert the dowels into the joints, or you can insert them as you go.

§ Don't

Use a mallet on the timber dowels as the soft head of the mallet will cause them to snap.

IMPORTANT!

§ Disassembling your frame

This piece is designed to be disassembled when required. Please note that when disassembling, a hammer must be used to remove the dowels. ALWAYS hold the hammer in line with the grain of the timber panel it fastens and use the prongs of the hammer to lever the dowel out slowly. If this step is not followed it will result in breakage of the dowel. Once the timber dowel is removed the mortise and tenon pieces will come apart with some gentle tapping with a mallet.
