Race, Gender, and the History of Early Analytic Philosophy Matt LaVine, 2020-06-15 Although what we now call analytic philosophy has been around at least since the turn of the twentieth century it wasn't until the latter half of the twentieth century that it became the dominant mode of philosophizing in the Western world In Race Gender and the History of Early Analytic Philosophy Matt LaVine argues that the changes associated with this shift from early analytic philosophy a revolutionary movement to later analytic philosophy the hegemon have not been sufficiently recognized While a significant portion of the analytic philosophy of the late 1900s was apolitical and conservative LaVine argues that there is much to gain by thinking of early analytic philosophy in relation to liberatory and emancipatory political aims In particular there is great potential in bringing together inquiry into critical theories of race and gender with inquiry into analytic philosophy LaVine supports this idea by discussing the philosophy of language and logic in relation to the Black Lives Matter movement the objectification of women and more Furthermore LaVine argues there is more precedent for this type of work in the history of early analytic philosophy in particular in the work of G E Moore Susan Stebbing Rudolf Carnap and Ruth Barcan Marcus than is traditionally recognized

The Historical Turn in Analytic Philosophy E. Reck, 2013-03-27 During the last 25 years a large number of publications on the history of analytic philosophy have appeared significantly more than in the preceding period As most of these works are by analytically trained authors it is tempting to speak of a historical turn in analytic philosophy The present volume constitutes both a contribution to this body of work and a reflection on what is or might be achieved in it The twelve new essays by an international group of contributors range from case studies on individual philosophers Russell Carnap Quine and Ryle through discussions of broader themes in the history of analytic philosophy in logic and philosophy of language philosophy of mathematics epistemology philosophy of mind and psychology to related methodological reflections on the relationship between doing analytic philosophy and studying the history of philosophy on various forms of philosophical history and on their respective benefits
