Multidisciplinary Approach in Health: New Strategies from the Perspective of Education, Management, Culture and Gender Sagrario Gomez-Cantarino, María Idoia Ugarte-Gurrutxaga, Beatriz Oliveira Xavier, MCarmen Solano-Ruiz, 2024-05-24. Gender and culture are the foundations of individual and social identity which influence the environment at all levels of health care. According to historical and cultural patterns, people learn to relate to their bodies. This situation reveals contrasts in the way bodily functions and thus health and illness are conceptualized, used, and valued. In fact, a person's sexuality covers a particularly conflictive field as it focuses on aspects defined as basic, constructed according to sociocultural concepts, and therefore modifiable. Therefore, health promotion understood as a proposal for empowering individuals, families, and communities about their perception of their life and health within their cultural, ethnic, religious, and care context, and influenced by their state of health, becomes important. To this end, we propose the adoption of transdisciplinary approaches that prioritize relational analysis studies in the context of health scenarios for the development of public policies framed in the culture of care, its evolution, economy, and management, highlighting the gender perspective. Advanced
