Ancient Greece Nicholas F. Jones,1997 Politics and Society in Ancient Greece Nicholas F. Jones,2008-02-28 Western democracies often trace their political roots back to Ancient Greece While politics today may seem the dusty domain of lawmakers and pundits in the classical era virtually no aspect of life was beyond its reach Political life was not limited to acts of a legislature magistrates and the courts but routinely included the activities of social clubs the patronage system and expression through literature art and architecture Through these varied means even non enfranchised groups such as women and non citizens gained entry into a wider democratic process Beyond the citizen world of traditional politics there existed multiple layers of Greek political life reflecting many aspects of our own modern political landscape Religious cults served as venues for female office holders private clubs and drinking parties served significant social functions Popular athletes capitalized on their fame to run for elected office Military veterans struggled to bring back the good old days much to the dismay of the forward thinking ambitions of naive twenty somethings Liberals and conservatives of all classes battled over important issues of the day Scandal and intrigue made or ended many a political career Taken collectively these aspects of political life serve as a lens for viewing the whole of Greek civilization in some of its characteristic and distinctive dimensions

Society, and Law in Islam Haim Gerber,1994-01-01 This book explores the legal structure of the Ottoman Empire between the sixteenth and early nineteenth centuries and examines its association with the Empire s sociopolitical structure The author s main focus is on the relationship between formal Islamic law and the law as it was actually administered in seventeenth and eighteenth century Istanbul and its environs Using court records other primary archival documents and little used Islamic literature Gerber establishes for the first time that large bodies of the law were indeed practiced and enforced as law This refutes the ethnocentric Western view propagated by Max Weber that Islamic law was dispensed arbitrarily because of a widening gap between ossified Muslim law and a changing Muslim society Gerber furthermore integrates his empirical research into a wider theoretical framework adapted from legal and historical legal anthropology and uses this material as the basis for comparisons between the Ottoman Empire s legal system and other legal systems most notably that of Morocco This book shows that although Islamic law as practiced did have to contend with an inviolable sacred core historical development nevertheless took place that can shed new light on the civilization of Islam Constructing Social Support Systems for Left-behind and Migrant Children in China Ling Li,2021-10-14 The book studies the educational needs of two disadvantaged groups of children in China left behind children in rural areas and migrant children in urban areas aiming to optimize the social support system so that these disadvantaged children can realize their full potential The author conducts two separate researches and introduces the research background methodology related theories and advanced theories Main difficulties of left behind children and migrant children include parents lack of attention to their children s mental health teachers lack of expertise in working with these two groups of children and a lack of collaboration between schools and NGOs It suggests promoting systematic reform helping parents to develop effective parenting skills and establishing positive interactions among the stakeholders of social support for these disadvantaged children The book will be of interest to people who work with left behind children in rural areas and those who work with migrant students in urban areas including teachers school administrators local educational authorities community based service providers and provincial and central departments of education Transactions of the Wisconsin State Agricultural Society Wisconsin State Agricultural Society,1876 Published with vol 21 25 Transactions of the Wisconsin State Horticultural Society vol 13 17 and Annual report of the Wisconsin Dairymen s Association no 11 15 with vol 22 25 Annual report of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Wisconsin no 1 4 Truth-seeker ,1849
