

ASSETS

Assets are resources owned by a business that have economic value. They are divided into three categories: current assets, non-current assets, and intangible assets.

- Current Assets: These are assets that are expected to be converted into cash or sold within one year. Examples include cash, accounts receivable, inventory, and prepaid expenses.
- Non-current Assets: These are assets that are not expected to be converted into cash or sold within one year. Examples include property, plant, and equipment, and intangible assets like patents and trademarks.
- Intangible Assets: These are assets that do not have a physical form but have economic value. Examples include patents, trademarks, and goodwill.

LIABILITIES

Liabilities are obligations or debts that a business owes to other parties. They are divided into two categories: current liabilities and non-current liabilities.

- Current Liabilities: These are liabilities that are due within one year. Examples include accounts payable, short-term debt, and accrued expenses.
- Non-current Liabilities: These are liabilities that are due after more than one year. Examples include long-term debt and deferred tax liabilities.

CONTRIBUTED CAPITAL

Contributed Capital represents the amount of capital that has been contributed by the owners of the business. It is divided into two categories: common stock and preferred stock.

- Common Stock: This is the most basic form of ownership in a company. Common stockholders have the right to vote on major corporate decisions and to receive dividends.
- Preferred Stock: This is a type of stock that has certain rights and privileges that are not shared by common stockholders. Preferred stockholders typically receive dividends before common stockholders and have the right to convert their shares into common stock.

RETAINED EARNINGS

Retained Earnings represent the portion of a company's net income that is retained within the company rather than distributed to shareholders as dividends. Retained earnings are used for a variety of purposes, including reinvesting in the business, paying off debt, and funding research and development.

EQUITY

Equity represents the ownership interest in a business. It is the difference between the total assets of a business and its total liabilities. Equity is divided into two categories: contributed capital and retained earnings.
