Assembly by Design Olga Touloumi, 2024-09-10 How the United Nations headquarters became the architectural instrument and broadcast medium of global diplomacy For almost seven years after World War II a small group of architects took on an exciting task to imagine the spaces of global governance for a new political organization called the United Nations UN To create the iconic headquarters of the UN in New York City these architects experimented with room layouts media technologies and design in tribunal courtrooms assembly halls and council chambers The result was the creation of a new type of public space the global interior Assembly by Design shows how this space leveraged media to help the UN communicate with the world With its media infrastructure symbols acoustic design and architecture the global interior defined political assembly both inside and outside the UN headquarters serving as the architectural medium to organize multilateral encounters of international publics around the globe Demonstrating how aesthetics have long held sway over political work Olga Touloumi posits that the building framed diplomacy on the ground amid a changing political landscape that brought the United States to the forefront of international politics destabilizing old and establishing new geopolitical alliances Uncovering previously closed institutional and family archives Assembly by Design offers new information about the political and aesthetic decisions that turned the UN headquarters into a communications organism It looks back at a moment of hope when politicians architects and diplomats believing that assembly was a matter of design worked together to deliver platforms for global democracy and governance

Architecture and the Image at the Turn of the 21st Century Sanja Rodeš, 2024-06-28 This book examines architecture image and media relationships as productive for architecture and architectural discourses By arguing that the relationships between architecture and media cannot be dismissed via linear criticism of architecture and media or image these relations are instead seen as a part of a sphere a mediasphere of complex relationships In lieu of anything like a consensus on the contemporary condition of architecture referring to the late twentieth and the twenty first centuries the starting point of this book is that the relationships between architecture media and images continue to multiply owing to continuous technological advancements Contemporary architecture considered in this book is related to the selected circumstances of high visibility where architectural images are propelled into visibility and conflated with non architectural images This takes architecture outside of architectural only discourse and into the public realm By granting higher visibility to both the architectural images and architecture in the public realm architecture can also be influenced by the various perceptions of the general public and can enter public consciousness via non architectural media With increased visibility architecture s far reaching presence calls for more structured analysis of its nature and potential As the analysed architecture in this book is associated with the discourses outside of architecture some of which relate to terrorism natural disaster and branding and consumption the limits of contemporary architectural discipline are questioned and extended This book is written for academics and students in architectural history theory and criticism particularly those interested in visual and media studies
