Architectures Of Time Toward A Theory Of The Event In Modernist Culture:

Architectures of Time Sanford Kwinter, 2002-08-23 An exploration of twentieth century conceptions of time and their relation to artistic form In Architectures of Time Sanford Kwinter offers a critical guide to the modern history of time and to the interplay between the physical sciences and the arts Tracing the transformation of twentieth century epistemology to the rise of thermodynamics and statistical mechanics Kwinter explains how the demise of the concept of absolute time and of the classical notion of space as a fixed background against which things occur led to field theory and a physics of the event He suggests that the closed controlled and mechanical world of physics gave way to the approximate active and qualitative world of biology as a model of both scientific and metaphysical explanation Kwinter examines theory of time and space in Einstein's theories of relativity and shows how these ideas were reflected in the writings of the sculptor Umberto Boccioni the town planning schema of the Futurist architect Antonio Sant'Elia the philosophy of Henri Bergson and the writings of Franz Kafka He argues that the writings of Boccioni and the visionary architecture of Sant'Elia represent the earliest and most profound deployments of the concepts of field and event In discussing Kafka's work he moves away from the thermodynamic model in favor of the closely related one of Bergsonian durée or virtuality He argues that Kafka's work manifests a coherent cosmology that can be understood only in relation to the constant temporal flux that underlies it

Architectures of Chance Yeoryia Manolopoulou, 2017-03-02 Architectural discourse and practice are dominated by a false dichotomy between design and chance and governed by the belief that the architect's role is to defend against the indeterminate In Architectures of Chance Yeoryia Manolopoulou challenges this position arguing for the need to develop a more creative understanding of chance as aesthetic experience and critical method and as a design practice in its own right Examining the role of experimental chance across film psychoanalysis philosophy fine art and performance this is the first book to comprehensively discuss the idea of chance in architecture and bring a rich array of innovative practices of chance to the attention of architects Wide ranging and through a symbiotic interplay of drawing and text Architectures of Chance makes illuminating reading for those interested in the process and experience of design and the poetics and ethics of chance and space in the overlapping fields of architecture and the aleatoric arts

BIM Design Richard Garber, 2014-08-11 Building information modelling BIM is revolutionising building design and construction For architects BIM has the potential to optimise their creativity while reducing risk in the design and construction process thus giving them a more significant role in the building process This book demonstrates how innovative firms are using BIM technologies to move design away from the utilitarian problems of construction engaging them in a stunning new future in the built environment Whereas recent books about BIM have tended to favour case study analyses or instruction on the use of specific software BIM Design highlights how day to day design operations are shaped by the increasingly generative and collaborative aspects of these new tools BIM strategies are described as operations that can enhance design rather than simply make it more efficient Thus this book focuses on the specific creative uses of information modelling at the operational level including the creative development of parametric geometries and generative design the evaluation of environmental performance and the simulation and scheduling of construction fabrication operations This book also engages BIM's pragmatic efficiencies such as the conflict checking of building systems and the creation of bills of quantities for costing and in so doing it demonstrates how BIM can make such activities collaborative Throughout projects are used to illustrate the creative application of BIM at a variety of scales These buildings showcase work by firms executing projects all over the world SHoP Architects and Construction New York Morphosis Los Angeles Populous London GRO Architects New York Reiser Umemoto New York Gensler Shanghai and UNStudio Amsterdam

Indigenous Transnationalism Lynda Ng, 2018-11-01 After Aboriginal author Alexis Wright's novel Carpentaria won the Miles Franklin Award in 2007 it rapidly achieved the status of a classic The novel is widely read and studied in Australia and overseas and valued for its imaginative power its epic reach and its remarkable use of language Indigenous Transnationalism brings together eight essays by critics from seven different countries each analysing Alexis Wright's novel Carpentaria from a distinct national perspective Taken together these diverse voices highlight themes from the novel that resonate across cultures and continents the primacy of the land the battles that indigenous peoples fight for their language culture and sovereignty a concern with the environment and the effects of pollution At the same time by comparing the Aboriginal experience to that of other indigenous peoples they demonstrate the means by which a transnational approach can highlight resistance to or subversion of national prejudices

Border Politics Nick Vaughan-Williams, 2012-02-29 Presents a distinctive theoretical approach to the problem of borders in the study of International Relations It turns from the current debate regarding the presence or absence of borders to consider the fundamental change that is occurring in the concept

Niche Tactics Caroline O'Donnell, 2015-04-10 Niche Tactics aligns architecture's relationship with site with its ecological analogue the relationship between an organism and its environment Bracketed between texts on giraffe morphology ecological perception ugliness and hopeful monsters architectural case studies investigate historical moments when relationships between architecture and site were productively intertwined from the anomalous city designs of Francesco de Marchi in the sixteenth century to Le Corbusier's near eradication of context in his Plan Voisin in the twentieth century to the more recent contextualist movements Extensively illustrated with 140 drawings and photographs Niche Tactics considers how attention to site might create a generative language for architecture today

Abstract Space Therese Tierney, 2007-02-26 This rich and imaginative book investigates the cultural connection between new media and architectural imaging

Performing Architectures Andrew Filmer, Juliet Rufford, 2018-05-03 Performing Architectures offers a coherent introduction to the fields of performance and contemporary architecture exploring the significance of architecture for performance theory and theatre and performance practice It maps the diverse relations that exist between these disciplines and demonstrates how their aims concerns and practices overlap through shared interests in space action and event Through a wide range of international examples and contributions from scholars and practitioners it offers readers an analytical survey of current practices and equips them with the tools for analyzing site specific and immersive theatre and performance The essays in this volume contributed by leading theorists and practitioners from both disciplines focus on three key sites of encounter Projects examines recent trends in architecture for performance Practices looks at cross currents in artistic practice including spatial dramaturgies performance architectonics and performative architectures and Pedagogies considers the uses of performance in architectural education and architecture in teaching performance The volume provides an essential introduction to the ways in which performance and architecture as socio spatial processes and as things made or constructed operate as generating shaping and steering forces in understanding and performing the other

Insect Media Jussi Parikka, 2010 Since the early nineteenth century when entomologists first popularized the unique biological and behavioral characteristics of insects technological innovators and theorists have proposed insects as templates for a wide range of technologies In Insect Media Jussi Parikka analyzes how insect forms of social organization swarms hives webs and distributed intelligence have been used to structure modern media technologies and the network society providing a radical new perspective on the interconnection of biology and technology Through close engagement with the pioneering work of insect ethologists including Jakob von Uexküll and Karl von Frisch posthumanist philosophers media theorists and contemporary filmmakers and artists Parikka develops an insect theory of media one that conceptualizes modern media as more than the products of individual human actors social interests or technological determinants They are rather profoundly nonhuman phenomena that both draw on and mimic the alien lifeworlds of insects Deftly moving from the life sciences to digital technology from popular culture to avant garde art and architecture and from philosophy to cybernetics and game theory Parikka provides innovative conceptual tools for exploring the phenomena of network society and culture Challenging anthropocentric approaches to contemporary science and culture Insect Media reveals the possibilities that insects and other nonhuman animals offer for rethinking media the conflation of biology and technology and our understanding of and interaction with contemporary digital culture

Retailising Space Prof Dr Mattias Kärrholm, 2013-06-28 Over the past few years there has been a proliferation of new kinds of retail space Retail space has cropped up just about everywhere in the urban landscape in libraries workplaces churches and museums In short retail is becoming a more and more manifest part of the public domain The traditional spaces of retail such as city centres and outlying shopping malls are either increasing in size or disappearing producing new urban types and whole environments totally dedicated to retail The creation of these new retail spaces has brought about a re and de territorialisation of urban public space and has also led to transformations in urban design and type of materials used and even in the logic and ways through which these design amenities meet the needs of retailers and or consumers This book describes how the retailisation of public domains affects our everyday life and our use of the built environment Taking an architectural and territorial perspective on this issue it looks specifically at how retail and consumption spaces have changed and territorialised urban life in different ways It then develops a methodology and a set of concepts to describe and understand the role of architecture in these territorial transformations
