Art Practice In A Digital Culture:

Art Practice in a Digital Culture Hazel Gardiner, Charlie Gere, 2016-04-15 Much as art history is in the process of being transformed by new information communication technologies often in ways that are either disavowed or resisted art practice is also being changed by those same technologies One of the most obvious symptoms of this change is the increasing numbers of artists working in universities and having their work facilitated and supported by the funding and infrastructural resources that such institutions offer This new paradigm of art as research is likely to have a profound effect on how we understand the role of the artist and of art practice in society In this unique book artists art historians art theorists and curators of new media reflect on the idea of art as research and how it has changed practice Intrinsic to the volume is an investigation of the advances in creative practice made possible via artists engaging directly with technology or via collaborative partnerships between practitioners and technological experts ranging through a broad spectrum of advanced methods from robotics through rapid prototyping to the biological sciences

Contemporary Art and Digital Culture Melissa Gronlund, 2016-12-08 Contemporary Art and Digital Culture analyses the impact of the internet and digital technologies upon art today Art over the last fifteen years has been deeply inflected by the rise of the internet as a mass cultural and socio political medium while also responding to urgent economic and political events from the financial crisis of 2008 to the ongoing conflicts in the Middle East This book looks at how contemporary art addresses digitality circulation privacy and globalisation and suggests how feminism and gender binaries have been shifted by new mediations of identity It situates current artistic practice both in canonical art history and in technological predecessors such as cybernetics and net art and takes stock of how the art world infrastructure has reacted to the internet's promises of democratisation An invaluable resource for undergraduate and postgraduate students of contemporary art especially those studying history of art and art practice and theory as well as those working in film media curation or art education Melissa Gronlund is a writer and lecturer on contemporary art specialising in the moving image From 2007-2015 she was co editor of the journal Afterall and her writing has appeared there and in Artforum e flux journal frieze the New Yorker com and many other places

De Gruyter Handbook of Digital Cultures Grant Bollmer, Katherine Guinness, Yiğit Soncul, 2025-09-22 As Digital Cultures becomes the dominant term used by many across a variety of intellectual fields to describe the social aesthetic and political impact of digital media it is necessary to provide a reference volume that specifies and defines the bounds of scholarly debates and curricular outlines for an otherwise amorphous interdisciplinary space This handbook provides a comprehensive reference for the varied methodologies historical frames and theoretical perspectives essential for the study of Digital Cultures today In outlining these foundations it serves as a practical guide for educators and students into the broad range of perspectives grouped together for the critical historical and social scientific study of digital media It also looks into the future and outlines an agenda for future research by examining not only the origins of the concept of Digital Culture but emerging topics and themes still in development such as the relation between digital technology and climate change artificial intelligence and knowledge sensation and aesthetics and the rise of new infrastructures reinventing not only the built environment but the boundaries of nations and sovereignty
