Art School Propositions For The 21st Century:

Art School Steven Henry Madoff, 2009-09-11 Leading international artists and art educators consider the challenges of art education in today's dramatically changed art world. The last explosive change in art education came nearly a century ago when the German Bauhaus was formed. Today dramatic changes in the art world, its increasing professionalization, the pervasive power of the art market and fundamental shifts in art making itself in our post Duchampian era combined with a revolution in information technology raise fundamental questions about the education of today's artists. Art School Propositions for the 21st Century brings together more than thirty leading international artists and art educators to reconsider the practices of art education in academic, practical, ethical and philosophical terms. The essays in the book range over continents, histories, traditions, experiments and fantasies of education. Accompanying the essays are conversations with such prominent artist educators as John Baldessari, Michael Craig Martin, Hans Haacke and Marina Abramovic, as well as questionnaire responses from a dozen important artists among them Mike Kelley, Ann Hamilton, Guillermo Kuitca and Shirin Neshat about their own experiences as students. A fascinating analysis of the architecture of major historical art schools throughout the world looks at the relationship of the principles of their designs to the principles of the pedagogy practiced within their halls. And throughout the volume attention is paid to new initiatives and proposals about what an art school can and should be in the twenty-first century and what it shouldn't be. No other book on the subject covers more of the questions concerning art education today or offers more insight into the pressures, challenges, risks and opportunities for artists and art educators in the years ahead. Contributors: Marina Abramovic, Dennis Adams, John Baldessari, Ute Meta Bauer, Daniel Birnbaum, Saskia Bos, Tania Bruguera, Luis Camnitzer, Michael Craig Martin, Thierry de Duve, Clémentine Deliss, Charles Esche, Liam Gillick, Boris Groys, Hans Haacke, Ann Lauterbach, Ken Lum, Steven Henry Madoff, Brendan D. Moran, Ernesto Pujol, Raqs Media Collective, Charles Renfro, Jeffrey T. Schnapp, Michael Shanks, Robert Storr, Anton Vidokle. Art and Design

Pedagogy in Higher Education Susan Orr, Alison Shreeve, 2017-08-07 Art and Design Pedagogy in Higher Education provides a contemporary volume that offers a scholarly perspective on tertiary level art and design education. Providing a theoretical lens to examine studio education, the authors suggest a student-centred model of curriculum that supports the development of creativity. The text offers readers analytical frameworks with which to challenge assumptions about the art and design curriculum in higher education. In this volume, Orr and Shreeve critically interrogate the landscape of art and design higher education, offering illuminating viewpoints on pedagogy and assessment. New scholarship is introduced in three key areas: curriculum, the nature and purpose of the creative curriculum, and the concept of a 'sticky' curriculum that is actively shaped by lecturers, technicians and students. Ambiguity, which the authors claim is at the heart of a creative education, is valued, asking what and whose ideas, practices and approaches are given value and create value within the curriculum. These insights from the perspective of a creative university subject area also offer new ways of viewing other disciplines and provide a response to a growing educational interest in cross curricular creativity This book offers a coherent theory of art and design teaching and learning that will be of great interest to those working in and studying higher education practice and policy as well as academics and researchers interested in creative education Re-imagining the

Art School Neil Mulholland, 2019-08-22 This book proposes pedagogic methods to re imagine the art academy While art schooling was revolutionised in the early 20th century by the Bauhaus the author argues that many art schools are unwittingly recycling the same modernist pedagogical fashions Stagnating in such traditions today s art schools are blind to recent advances in the scholarship of teaching and learning As discipline based education research in art eternally battles the perceived threat of epistemicide transformative educational practices are rapidly overcoming the perennialism of the art school The author develops critical case studies of open source and peer to peer methods for re imagining the art academy para academia and andragogy pedagogy This innovative book will be of interest and value to students and scholars of the art school as well as how the art academy can be reimagined and rebuilt Arts Programming for the Anthropocene Bill

Gilbert, Anicca Cox, 2018-11-21 Arts Programming for the Anthropocene argues for a role for the arts as an engaged professional practice in contemporary culture charting the evolution of arts over the previous half century from a primarily solitary practice involved with its own internal dialogue to one actively seeking a larger discourse The chapters investigate the origin and evolution of five academic field programs on three continents mapping developments in field pedagogy in the arts over the past twenty years Drawing upon the collective experience of artists and academicians in the United States Australia and Greece operating in a wide range of social and environmental contexts it makes the case for the necessity of an update to ensure the real world relevance and applicability of tertiary arts education Based on thirty years of experimentation in arts pedagogy including the creation of the Land Arts of the American West LAAW program and Art and Ecology discipline at the University of New Mexico this book is written for arts practitioners aspiring artists art educators and those interested in how the arts can contribute to strengthening cultural resiliency in the face of rapid environmental change Integrating Critical and Contextual Studies in Art and Design Jenny Rintoul, 2016-11-18 Integrating Critical and Contextual Studies in Art and Design examines the relationship between two aspects of art education that appear at times inseparable or even indistinguishable and at others isolated and in conflict Critical and Contextual Studies CCS and studio practice Underpinned by international contexts this book is rooted in British art and design education and draws upon contemporary case studies of teaching and learning in post compulsory settings in order to analyse and illustrate identities and practices of CCS and its integration The chapters in this book are divided into three sections that build on one another Discourse and debate Models types and tensions and Proposals and recommendations Key issues include knowledge hierarchies and subject histories and identities constructions of theory and the symbiotic relationship between theory and practice models and practices of CCS within current post compulsory British art and design education the reification of ubiquitous terms in the fields of art and design and of education intuition and integration approaches to curriculum integration including design and management and suggestions for integrating CCS in art and design courses including implications for pedagogy and assessment Integrating Critical and Contextual Studies in Art and Design offers a comprehensive analysis of the current drive towards integration within art education and elucidates what we understand by the theory and practice of integration It explores the history theory teaching and student experience of CCS and will be of interest to lecturers teachers and pedagogues involved in art and design as well as researchers and students of art education

A Philosophy of the Art School Michael Newall, 2018-10-31 Winner of the American Society for Aesthetics 2019

Outstanding Monograph Prize Until now research on art schools has been largely occupied with the facts of particular schools and teachers This book presents a philosophical account of the underlying practices and ideas that have come to shape contemporary art school teaching in the UK US and Europe It analyses two models that hidden beneath the diversity of contemporary artist training have come to dominate art schools The first of these is essentially an old approach a training guided by the artistic values of a single artist teacher The second dates from the 1960s and is based around the group crit in which diverse voices contribute to an artist's development Understanding the underlying principles and possibilities of these two models which sit together in an uneasy tension gives new insights into the character of contemporary art school teaching demonstrating how art schools shape art and artists how they can be a potent engine of creativity in contemporary culture and how they contribute to artistic research A Philosophy of the Art School draws on first hand accounts of art school teaching and is deeply informed by disciplines ranging from art history and art theory to the philosophy of art education and creativity

Art and the City Jason Luger, Julie Ren, 2017-05-18 Artistic practices have long been disturbing the relationships between art and space They have challenged the boundaries of performer spectator of public private introduced intervention and installation ephemerality and performance and constantly sought out new modes of distressing expectations about what is construed as art But when we expand the world in which we look at art how does this change our understanding of critical artistic practice This book presents a global perspective on the relationship between art and the city International and leading scholars and artists themselves present critical theory and practice of contemporary art as a politicised force It extends thinking on contemporary arts practices in the urban and political context of protest and social resilience and offers the prism of a critical artscape in which to view the urgent interaction of arts and the urban politic The global appeal of the book is established through the general topic as well as the specific chapters which are geographically socially politically and professionally varied Contributing authors come from many different institutional and anti institutional perspectives from across the world This will be valuable reading for those interested in cultural geography urban geography and urban culture as well as contemporary art theorists practitioners and policymakers

Shakespeare's Language in Digital Media Janelle Jenstad, Mark Kaethler, Jennifer

Roberts-Smith, 2017-12-22 The authors of this book ask how digital research tools are changing the ways in which practicing editors historicize Shakespeare's language Scholars now encounter interpret and disseminate Shakespeare's language through an increasing variety of digital resources including online editions such as the Internet Shakespeare Editions ISE searchable lexical corpora such as the Early English Books Online Text Creation Partnership EEBO TCP or the Lexicons of Early Modern English LEME collections high quality digital facsimiles such as the Folger Shakespeare Library's Digital Image Collection text visualization tools such as Voyant apps for reading and editing on mobile devices and more What new insights do these tools offer about the ways Shakespeare's words made meaning in their own time What kinds of historical or historicizing arguments can digital editions make about Shakespeare's language A growing body of work in the digital humanities allows textual critics to explore new approaches to editing in digital environments and enables language historians to ask and answer new questions about Shakespeare's words The authors in this unique book explicitly bring together the two fields of textual criticism and language history in an exploration of the ways in which new tools are expanding our understanding of Early Modern English
