Artistic Bedfellows Histories Theories And Conversations In Collaborative Art Practices 2008 09 17:

Artistic Bedfellows Holly Crawford, 2008-09-17 Artistic Bedfellows is an international interdisciplinary collection of historical essays critical papers case studies interviews and comments from scholars and practitioners that shed new light on the growing field of collaborative art This collection examines the field of collaborative art broadly while asking specific questions with regard to the issues of interdisciplinary and cultural difference as well as the psychological and political complexity of collaboration The diversity of approach is needed in the current multimedia and cross disciplinarily world of art This reader is designed to stimulate thought and discussion for anyone interested in this growing field and practice Art Attacks Malvika Maheshwari, 2018-10-16 Since the end of the 1980s in India self styled representatives of a variety of ascriptive groups religious caste regional and linguistic have been routinely damaging artworks disrupting their exhibition and threatening and assaulting artists and their supporters Often these acts are claimed to be a protest against allegedly hurtful or offensive artworks wherein its regularity and brazenness has led to an intensifying sense of fear frustration and anger within the art world Art Attacks tells the story of this phenomenon and maps the concrete political transformations that have informed the dynamic unfolding of violent attacks on artists Based on extensive interactions with offence takers assailants and artists the author argues that these attacks are not simply anti democratic but are dependent in perverse ways on the very logics of democracy s functioning in India At the same time they have been contained at least until now by this very democratic system which has prevented the spiralling of attacks into an outright condition of art plunder Screen Ecologies Larissa Hjorth, Sarah Pink, Kristen Sharp, Linda Williams, 2016-05-13 How new media and visual artists provide alternative ways for understanding and visualizing the entanglements of media and the environment in the Asia Pacific Images of environmental disaster and degradation have become part of our everyday media diet This visual culture focusing on environmental deterioration represents a wider recognition of the political economic and cultural forces that are responsible for our ongoing environmental crisis And yet efforts to raise awareness about environmental issues through digital and visual media are riddled with irony because the resource extraction manufacturing transportation and waste associated with digital devices contribute to environmental damage and climate change Screen Ecologies examines the relationship of media art and climate change in the Asia Pacific region a key site of both environmental degradation and the production and consumption of climate aware screen art and media Screen Ecologies shows how new media and visual artists provide alternative ways for understanding the entanglements of media and the environment in the Asia Pacific It investigates such topics as artists exploration of alternative ways to represent the environment regional stories of media innovation and climate change the tensions between amateur and professional art the emergence of biennials triennials and new arts organizations the theme of water in regional art new models for networked collaboration and social media s move from private to public realms A generous selection of illustrations shows a range of artist s projects Eye of the Sixties

Judith E. Stein, 2024-05-01 An evocative portrait of one of the most influential and enigmatic American art dealers of the 1960s Barbara Rose The New York Times In 1959 Richard Bellamy was a witty poetry loving beatnik on the fringe of the New York art world By 1965 he was representing Mark di Suvero had been the first to show Andy Warhol's pop art and had introduced the new genre of installation art An eccentric art dealer and founder of the Green Gallery on Fifty Seventh Street Bellamy helped discover many of the innovative successors to the abstract expressionists including Claes Oldenburg James Rosenquist Donald Judd Dan Flavin Walter de Maria and many others But uninterested in anything more than showing the artists he loved Bellamy slowly slid into obscurity while fellow dealers such as Leo Castelli and Sidney Janis capitalized on the stars he helped find Based on decades of research and on hundreds of interviews with Bellamy's artists friends colleagues and lovers Judith E Stein's Eye of the Sixties rescues the legacy of the elusive art dealer and tells the story of a counterculture that became the mainstream Ranging from the Beat orbits of Provincetown to white glove events like Guggenheim's opening gala from Norman Mailer's parties to historic downtown Happenings Richard Bellamy's story is a remarkable window on the art of the twentieth century and the making of a generation's aesthetic Judith E Stein's engrossing impressively researched consistently readable and often entertaining tale restores a crucial figure to his rightful place in the annals of postwar American art Lilly Wei Art in America By using Bellamy's unlikely ascent as a prism Ms Stein brings to vibrant life a corner of the culture that was as outrageous as it was visually revolutionary Ann Landi The Wall Street Journal A man of shrewd and impeccable taste Bellamy's role in promoting the often misunderstood art of abstract expressionism pop and minimalism was profound This is an endearing and illuminating work of biography A shadowy figure of the 1960s art world is gloriously revealed Kirkus Reviews

Thai Art David Teh, 2017-03-31 The interplay of the local and the global in contemporary Thai art as artists strive for international recognition and a new meaning of the national Since the 1990s Thai contemporary art has achieved international recognition circulating globally by way of biennials museums and commercial galleries Many Thai artists have shed identification with their nation but Thainess remains an interpretive crutch for understanding their work In this book the curator and critic David Teh examines the tension between the global and the local in Thai contemporary art Writing the first serious study of Thai art since 1992 and noting that art history and criticism have lagged behind the market in recognizing it he describes the competing claims to contemporaneity as staked in Thailand and on behalf of Thai art elsewhere He shows how the values of the global art world are exchanged with local ones how they do and don't correspond and how these discrepancies have been exploited How can we make sense of globally circulating art without forgoing the interpretive resources of the local national or regional context Teh examines the work of artists who straddle the local and the global becoming willing agents of assimilation yet resisting homogenization He describes the transition from an artistic subjectivity couched in terms of national community to a more qualified postnational one against the backdrop of the singular but waning sovereignty of the Thai monarchy and sustained political and economic turmoil

Among the national currencies of Thai art that Teh identifies are an agricultural symbology a Siamese poetics of distance and itinerancy and Hindu Buddhist conceptions of charismatic power Each of these currencies has been converted to a legal tender in global art signifying sustainability utopia the conceptual and the relational but what is lost and what may be gained in such exchanges

The One and the Many Grant H. Kester, 2011-09-12 Examines questions of agency artisanship and identity in relation to collaborative art practice

What We Made Tom Finkelpearl, 2013-01-15 In What We Made Tom Finkelpearl examines the activist participatory coauthored aesthetic experiences being created in contemporary art He suggests social cooperation as a meaningful way to think about this work and provides a framework for understanding its emergence and acceptance In a series of fifteen conversations artists comment on their experiences working cooperatively joined at times by colleagues from related fields including social policy architecture art history urban planning and new media Issues discussed include the experiences of working in public and of working with museums and libraries opportunities for social change the lines between education and art spirituality collaborative opportunities made available by new media and the elusive criteria for evaluating cooperative art Finkelpearl engages the art historians Grant Kester and Claire Bishop in conversation on the challenges of writing critically about this work and the aesthetic status of the dialogical encounter He also interviews the often overlooked co creators of cooperative art expert participants who have worked with artists In his conclusion Finkelpearl argues that pragmatism offers a useful critical platform for understanding the experiential nature of social cooperation and he brings pragmatism to bear in a discussion of Houston's Project Row Houses Interviewees Naomi Beckwith Claire Bishop Tania Bruguera Brett Cook Teddy Cruz Jay Dykeman Wendy Ewald Sondra Farganis Harrell Fletcher David Henry Gregg Horowitz Grant Kester Mierle Laderman Ukeles Pedro Lasch Rick Lowe Daniel Martinez Lee Mingwei Jonah Peretti Ernesto Pujol Evan Roth Ethan Seltzer and Mark Stern

Taking the Matter Into Common Hands Johanna Billing, Maria Lind, Lars Nilsson, 2007 Taking the Matter into Common Hands maps out the issues surrounding collaborative art from a practitioner's perspective With contributions from Marion von Osten Nav Haq 16 Beaver Copenhagen Free University Maria Lind and Lars Nilsson it examines the working relations between artists and other producers of culture and explores the future of collective action in the art world In recent years the art world has shown a renewed interest in collective work and activity Collaborations between artists and artists artists and curators and artists and outside professionals have begun to rival the traditional focus on the individual artist This type of collaboration has called into question how we view works of art that are not the voice of a single individual and how that impacts on the concept of art as a means of self expression Taking the Matter Into Common Hands is essential for both academics practitioners and lay audiences alike 47 colour b w illustrations
