EBOOK: Women in Later Life: Exploring Race and Ethnicity Haleh Afshar, Myfanwy Franks, Mary Ann Maynard, Sharon Wray, 2008-05-16 The authors argue that much of the research into later life has neglected ethnic and cultural variation. Their aim is to help us to understand what is important in older women's lives across a range of ethnic groups. They have certainly achieved this in what is a readable and detailed analysis of their findings. Highly recommended. Nursing Standard the first book to comprehensively examine the lives of older women from ethnic minorities in the UK as well as non-migrant White women. The authors draw on extensive qualitative research to provide novel ways of looking at the priorities and concerns of older women, providing insights into what enhances their quality of life. Mary Maynard and colleagues have written an outstanding book. Women in Later Life will be essential reading for students on undergraduate and postgraduate courses on gender, ethnicity and later life. Sara Arber, University of Surrey. What is it like to be an older person and particularly an older woman? This carefully crafted and wide-ranging book seeks to answer this question. The book reminds us that age is a social construct, one which profoundly disadvantages women. For minority ethnic women, where this book makes an important contribution to a largely unexplored territory, the situation is even more dire. The authors have opened up a huge area of policy, demonstrating despite the rhetoric of government how badly we treat our elders. Professor Gary Craig, University of Hull. Britain, along with other Western and industrialized countries, has an ageing population. We already live in one of the demographically oldest societies to have ever existed, and the population is going to get older. By 2020, it is estimated that one third of the population will be aged over 50. Furthermore, older women outnumber older men, since men tend to die at a younger age than women. In the academic mainstream, relatively little is known about older women from minority ethnic communities. This groundbreaking book is based on interviews and focus groups with women of different backgrounds and ethnicities whose lives illustrate the strength of character and optimism that have often enabled them to live through hard times but who, in general, view later life positively. In seeking to understand the relationships between age, gender and ethnicity, the authors focus on a number of key themes, including Family and networks, Health and well-being, Religion, faith and spirituality, Income, pensions and housing, The meaning of identity and life course events, Death and dying. Women in Later Life will be key reading for students and practitioners with an interest in gender and/or issues surrounding later life.

Ebook: Sociological Theory George Ritzer, Jeff Stepnisky, 2014-10-16 The ninth edition of Sociological Theory by George Ritzer gives readers a comprehensive overview of the major theorists and schools of sociological thought. Key theories are integrated with biographical sketches of theorists and are placed in their historical and intellectual context. Written by one of the foremost authorities on sociological theory, this text helps students better understand the original works of classical and modern theorists and enables them to compare and contrast the latest substantive concepts.

Cooking in Other Women's Kitchens, Enhanced Ebook Rebecca Sharpless, 2013-02-01 As African American women left the plantation economy behind many entered domestic service in southern cities and towns Cooking was one of the primary jobs they performed feeding generations of white families and in the process profoundly shaping southern foodways and culture In Cooking in Other Women's Kitchens Domestic Workers in the South 1865-1960 Rebecca Sharpless argues that in the face of discrimination long workdays and low wages African American cooks worked to assert measures of control over their own lives As employment opportunities expanded in the twentieth century most African American women chose to leave cooking for more lucrative and less oppressive manufacturing clerical or professional positions Through letters autobiography and oral history Sharpless evokes African American women's voices from slavery to the open economy examining their lives at work and at home The enhanced electronic version of the book includes twenty letters photographs first person narratives and other documents each embedded in the text where it will be most meaningful Featuring nearly 100 pages of new material the enhanced eBook offers readers an intimate view into the lives of domestic workers while also illuminating the journey a historian takes in uncovering these stories
