Ignoring Nature No More Marc Bekoff, 2024-05-31 For far too long humans have been ignoring nature As the most dominant overproducing overconsuming big brained big footed arrogant and invasive species ever known we are wrecking the planet at an unprecedented rate And while science is important to our understanding of the impact we have on our environment it alone does not hold the answers to the current crisis nor does it get people to act In Ignoring Nature No More Marc Bekoff and a host of renowned contributors argue that we need a new mind set about nature one that centers on empathy compassion and being proactive This collection of diverse essays is the first book devoted to compassionate conservation a growing global movement that translates discussions and concerns about the well being of individuals species populations and ecosystems into action Written by leading scholars in a host of disciplines including biology psychology sociology social work economics political science and philosophy as well as by locals doing fieldwork in their own countries the essays combine the most creative aspects of the current science of animal conservation with analyses of important psychological and sociocultural issues that encourage or vex stewardship The contributors tackle topics including the costs and benefits of conservation behavioral biology media coverage of animal welfare conservation psychology and scales of conservation from the local to the global Taken together the essays make a strong case for why we must replace our habits of domination and exploitation with compassionate conservation if we are to make the world a better place for nonhuman and human animals alike
