Selling the Movie Ian Haydn Smith, 2018 As long as there have been movies there have been posters selling films to audiences Posters came into existence just decades before the inception of film and as movies became a universal medium of entertainment posters likewise became a ubiquitous form of advertising At first movie posters suggested a film's theme from adventure and romance to thrills and spine tingling horror Then with the ascendancy of the film star posters began to sell icons and lifestyles nowhere more so than in Hollywood But every country producing films used posters to sell their product Selling the Movie The Art of the Film Poster charts the history of the movie poster from both a creative and a commercial perspective It includes sections focusing on poster artists the development of styles the influence of politics and ideology and how commerce played a role in the film poster's development The book is richly illustrated with poster art from many countries and all eras of filmmaking From creating the brand of Charlie Chaplin's tramp and marketing the elusive mystique of Greta Garbo to the history of the blockbuster the changing nature of graphic design by the decade and the role of the poster in the digital age Selling the Movie is an entertaining and enthralling journey through cinema art and the business of attracting audiences to the box office The Village Voice Film Guide Village Voice, 2010-12-15 For decades the Village Voice set the benchmark for passionate critical and unique film coverage Including reviews by some of America's most respected critics The Village Voice Film Guide compiles spirited landmark reviews of the Voice's selection of the 150 greatest films ever made Collecting some of the best writing on film ever put on paper this is a perfect book for film buffs My Last Sigh Luis Bunuel, 2013-03-26 ONE OF THE HOLLYWOOD REPORTER'S 100 GREATEST FILM BOOKS OF ALL TIME A provocative memoir from Luis Buñuel the Academy Award winning creator of some of modern cinema's most important films from Un Chien Andalou to The Discreet Charm of the Bourgeoisie Luis Buñuel's films have the power to shock inspire and reinvent our world Now in a memoir that carries all the surrealism and subversion of his cinema Buñuel turns his artistic gaze inward In swift and generous prose Buñuel traces the surprising contours of his life from the Good Friday drumbeats of his childhood to the dreams that inspired his most famous films to his turbulent friendships with Federico García Lorca and Salvador Dalí His personal narratives also encompass the pressing political issues of his time many of which still haunt us today the specter of fascism the culture wars the nuclear bomb Filled with film trivia framed by Buñuel's intellect and wit this is essential reading for fans of cinema and for anyone who has ever wanted to see the world through a surrealist's eyes

Belle de Jour Joseph Kessel, 1962 The End of Love Eva Illouz, 2019-10-09 Western culture has endlessly represented the ways in which love miraculously erupts in people's lives the mythical moment in which one knows someone is destined for us the feverish waiting for a phone call or an email the thrill that runs our spine at the mere thought of him or her Yet a culture that has so much to say about love is virtually silent on the no less mysterious moments when we avoid falling in love where we fall out of love when the one who kept us awake at night now leaves us indifferent or when we hurry away from those who excited us a few months or even a few hours before In The End of Love Eva Illouz documents the multifarious ways in which relationships end She argues that if modern love was once marked by the freedom to enter sexual and emotional bonds according to one's will and choice contemporary love has now become characterized by practices of non choice the freedom to withdraw from relationships Illouz dubs this process by which relationships fade evaporate dissolve and break down unloving While sociology has classically focused on the formation of social bonds The End of Love makes a powerful case for studying why and how social bonds collapse and dissolve Particularly striking is the role that capitalism plays in practices of non choice and unloving The unmaking of social bonds she argues is connected to contemporary capitalism that is characterized by practices of non commitment and non choice practices that enable the quick withdrawal from a transaction and the quick realignment of prices and the breaking of loyalties Unloving and non choice have in turn a profound impact on society and economics as they explain why people may be having fewer children increasingly living alone and having less sex The End of Love presents a profound and original analysis of the effects of capitalism and consumer culture on personal relationships and of what the dissolution of personal relationships means for capitalism
