Handbook of Food Preservation M. Shafiur Rahman, 2020-06-10 The processing of food is no longer simple or straightforward but is now a highly interdisciplinary science. A number of new techniques have developed to extend shelf life, minimize risk, protect the environment and improve functional, sensory and nutritional properties. Since 1999 when the first edition of this book was published, it has facilitated readers' understanding of the methods, technology and science involved in the manipulation of conventional and newer sophisticated food preservation methods. The Third Edition of the Handbook of Food Preservation provides a basic background in postharvest technology for foods of plant and animal origin, presenting preservation technology of minimally processed foods and hurdle technology or combined methods of preservation. Each chapter compiles the mode of food preservation, basic terminologies and sequential steps of treatments, including types of equipment required. In addition, chapters present how preservation method affects the products' reaction kinetics and selected prediction models related to food stability, what conditions need be applied for best quality and safety and applications of these preservation methods in different food products. This book emphasizes practical, cost-effective and safe strategies for implementing preservation techniques for wide varieties of food products. Features: Includes extensive overview on the postharvest handling and treatments for foods of plants and animal origin. Describes comprehensive preservation methods using chemicals and microbes such as fermentation, antimicrobials, antioxidants, pH lowering and nitrite. Explains comprehensive preservation by controlling of water structure and atmosphere such as water activity, glass transition state diagram, drying, smoking, edible coating, encapsulation and controlled release. Describes preservation methods using conventional heat and other forms of energy such as microwave, ultrasound, ohmic heating, light irradiation, pulsed electric field, high pressure and magnetic field. Revised, updated and expanded with 18 new chapters. The Handbook of Food Preservation Third Edition remains the definitive resource on food preservation and is useful for practicing industrial and academic food scientists, technologists and engineers.

Juvenile Hormones and Juvenoids James Devillers, 2013-05-06 Juvenile hormones (JHs) are a group of structurally related sesquiterpenes secreted by the insect corpora allata. They affect most insect life cycle stages and physiological functions including embryogenesis, larval and adult development, metamorphosis, reproduction, metabolism, diapause, polyethism and migration. Juvenoids such as methoprene, hydroprene, kinoprene, pyriproxyfen and fenoxycarb are man-made chemicals that mimic the structure and/or activity of JHs, selectively targeting and disrupting the endocrine system of insects. They are particularly suited as larvicides for the control of pest and disease.

vectoring insects such as mosquitoes Juvenile Hormones and Juvenoids Modeling Biological Effects and Environmental Fate discusses the various modeling approaches that can be used to study the mechanism of action of JHs in insects and to estimate the adverse effects and the environmental fate of the juvenoids that mimic their activity This book is the third of the QSAR in Environmental and Health Sciences series but the first dedicated to the use of QSAR and other in silico techniques to provide these insights into JHs and their analogs With contributions by an international team of scientists the book begins with a historical survey of JHs and juvenoids It then discusses biosynthesis of sesquiterpenoids followed by chapters covering JH activity such as morph specific JH titers in crickets and JH analog activity including soldier specific organ development in termites and the role of methoprene in gene transcription The book examines modeling approaches applied to resistance to JH analogs to population dynamics of nontarget species in the presence of juvenoids and to SAR and QSAR of JH mimics The book concludes with a discussion on the use of multicriteria analysis for selecting insecticides for vector control The
