Clark,Irving S. Starr,1981 The Best of History Web Sites Thomas Daccord,2007 Educator and technology trainer Thomas Daccord has painstakingly selected and compiled this guide to the best history sites for use in high school academic and public libraries The Best of History Web Sites is the quickest path to a rich variety of content including multimedia presentations subject gateways lesson plans and activities primary resources interactive quizzes and games virtual tours maps and atlases statistical collections and more From Sea Charts to Satellite Images David Buisseret,1990-06-22 The authors write authoritatively and crisply How to use maps in teaching is spelled out carefully but the authors also manage to sketch in the background of American mapping so the book is both a manual and a history Commentaries are sprinkled with stimulating new ideas for instance on how to use bird s eye views and country atlases in the classroom and there are didactic discussions on maps showing the walking city and the impact of the street car An extraordinarily wide range of maps is depicted which makes for good browsing pondering and close study This is a very good highly attractive and worthwhile book it will have great impact on the use of old and new maps in teaching As well this is a tantalizing survey of mapping the United States and will whet the appetites of students and encourage them to learn more about maps and their origins John Warketin Cartographica Colonial Administration, 1800-1900 United States. Department of the Treasury. Bureau of Statistics,1903 Catalogue of Gall and Inglis' Publications ,1874 Enhancing Writing with Visuals, Grades 3-5 (Meeting Writing Standards Series) Kathleen N. Kopp,2000-06 Consists of activities that use visual enhancements as aids in developing writing skills of students Colonial connections, 1815-45 Zoë Laidlaw,2013-07-19 This groundbreaking book challenges standard interpretations of metropolitan strategies of rule in the early nineteenth century After the Napoleonic wars the British government ruled a more diverse empire than ever before and the Colonial Office responded by cultivating strong personal links with governors and colonial officials through which influence patronage and information could flow By the 1830s the conviction that personal connections were the best way of exerting influence within the imperial sphere went well beyond the metropolitan government as lobbyists settlers and missionaries also developed personal connections to advance their causes However the successive crises in the 1830s exposed these complicated networks of connection to hostile metropolitan scrutiny This book challenges traditional notions of a radical revolution in government identifying a more profound and general transition from a metropolitan reliance on gossip and personal information to the embrace of new statistical forms of knowledge The analysis moves between London New South Wales and the Cape Colony encompassing both government insiders and those who struggled against colonial and imperial governments
