The Executive Function Guidebook

Roberta Strosnider, Valerie Saxton Sharpe, 2019-03-22 Teach some of the most important skills your students will ever need. Please try harder. Please pay attention. Please behave. Most students want to do what it takes to succeed but sometimes that's easier said than done. Executive function skills such as self regulation, focus, planning and time management must be taught and they take practice. When you work on them in class you give students the tools they need to not only learn but also monitor themselves. Teaching executive function skills in your classroom doesn't have to be difficult. This unique guidebook designed with busy teachers in mind introduces a flexible seven step model that incorporates Universal Design for Learning (UDL) principles and the use of metacognition. Features include: Descriptions of each skill and its impact on learning. Examples of instructional steps to assist students as they set goals and work to achieve success. Strategies coded by competency and age/grade level. Authentic snapshots and think about sections. Templates for personalized goal setting, data collection and success plans. Accompanying strategy cards. Whether you teach kindergarten, high school or anything in between you can make executive function training part of your teaching. As students' proficiencies improve you will see their confidence and capability increase, setting the stage for their success in school and in life.
