Architecture As A Performing Art Architecture As A Performing Art:

Architecture as a Performing Art Professor Gray Read, Professor Marcia Feuerstein, 2013-05-28 How do buildings act with people and among people in the performances of life This collection of essays reveals a deep alliance between architecture and the performing arts uncovering its roots in ancient stories and tracing a continuous tradition of thought that emerges in contemporary practice With fresh insight the authors ask how buildings perform with people as partners rather than how they look as formal compositions They focus on actions the door that offers the possibility of making a dramatic entrance the window that frames a scene and the city street that is transformed in carnival The essays also consider the design process as a performance improvised among many players and offer examples of recent practice that integrates theater and dance This collection advances architectural theory history and criticism by proposing the lens of performance as a way to engage the multiple roles that buildings can play without reducing them to functional categories By casting architecture as spatial action rather than as static form these essays open a promising avenue for future investigation For architects the essays propose integrating performance into design through playful explorations that can reveal intense relationships between people and place and among people in place Such practices develop an architectural imagination that intuitively asks How might people play out their stories in this place and How might this place spark new stories Questions such as these reside in the heart of all of the essays presented here Together they open a position in the intersection between everyday life and staged performance to rethink the role of architectural design performance to rethink the role of architectural design Architecture John Andrews, Jennifer Taylor, 1982 Illustrating the practice of architecture as it really is from getting a job to the completion of a building this book is about the career and work of the Australian architect John Andrews Illustrated with over 200 photographs plans and two colour diagrams it is helpful to students of architecture John Andrews Jennifer Taylor, John Andrews, 1982 The linking text and comments by Miss Taylor provide the background and framework for the case studies by Andrew himself This exciting contemporary architect describes thirteen of his most important projects in a series of studies which tell the inside story of the commission how problems were solved and the ultimate solution Modern Architecture in Theatre A. Read, 2013-11-21 If the city is the theatre of urban life how does architecture act in its many performances This book reconstructs the spatial experiments of Art et Action a theatre troupe active in 1920s Paris and how their designs for theater buildings show how the performance spaces interacted with actors and spectators according to their type Building for the Arts Peter Frumkin, Ana Kolendo, 2014-03-06 Over the past two decades the arts in America have experienced an unprecedented building boom with more than sixteen billion dollars directed to the building expansion and renovation of museums theaters symphony halls opera houses and centers for the visual and performing arts Among the projects that emerged from the boom were many brilliant successes Others like the striking addition of the Quadracci Pavilion to the Milwaukee Art Museum brought international renown but also tens of millions of dollars of off budget debt while offering scarce additional benefit to the arts and embodying the cultural sector's worst fears that the arts themselves were being displaced by the big status driven architecture projects built to contain them With Building for the Arts Peter Frumkin and Ana Kolendo explore how artistic vision funding partnerships and institutional culture work together or fail to throughout the process of major cultural construction projects Drawing on detailed case studies and in depth interviews at museums and other cultural institutions varying in size and funding arrangements including the Art Institute of Chicago Atlanta Opera and AT T Performing Arts Center in Dallas Frumkin and Kolendo analyze the decision making considerations and challenges and identify four factors whose alignment characterizes the most successful and sustainable of the projects discussed institutional requirements capacity of the institution to manage the project while maintaining ongoing operations community interest and support and sufficient sources of funding How and whether these factors are strategically aligned in the design and execution of a building initiative the authors argue can lead an organization to either thrive or fail The book closes with an analysis of specific tactics that can enhance the chances of a project's success A practical guide grounded in the latest scholarship on nonprofit strategy and governance Building for the Arts will be an invaluable resource for professional arts staff and management trustees of arts organizations development professionals and donors as well as those who study and seek to understand them Architecture as a Performing Art Barrie Brennan Jansen, 2000 Event-Space Dorita Hannah, 2018-07-11 As the symbolists constructivists and surrealists of the historical avant garde began to abandon traditional theatre spaces and embrace the more contingent locations of the theatrical and political event the built environment of a performance became not only part of the event but an event in and of itself Event Space radically re evaluates the avant garde s championing of nonrepresentational spaces drawing on the specific fields of performance studies and architectural studies to establish a theory of performative architecture Event was of immense significance to modernism s revolutionary agenda resisting realism and naturalism and simultaneously the monumentality of architecture itself Event Space analyzes a number of spatiotemporal models central to that revolution both illuminating the history of avant garde performance and inspiring contemporary approaches to performance space Art, Architecture, Performing Arts M.I.T.
