Principles and Processes in Adult Learning

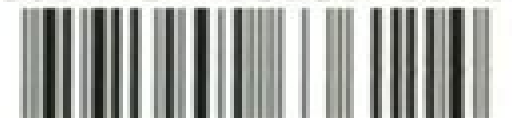

How do adults learn? What is the task of the adult educator in adult education? What can adults do to take charge of their learning process?

Learning means change and transformation. But in order to learn, argues Coenraad van Houten, we must first awaken our will. True adult education, he says, enables our spiritual ego to accomplish this. He describes the forms in which learning can be meaningfully structured, and offers advice and ideas to help overcome specific learning blockages.

This book regards the business of adult education as a full profession, and it provides a theoretical and practical basis for its true task: an awakening of the will.

Coenraad Van Houten was born in the Netherlands. After studying Chemistry, Economics and 'Social Pedagogy', he lived and worked in Indonesia, Hong Kong and Britain as a manager in business, as a consultant, and as the director of the Centre for Social Development (which he co-founded). He has developed specialist programmes and seminars on adult education, 'destiny learning' and the path of spiritual research, and presently advises organizations on training programmes. He is the author of two books and the co-founder of the New Adult Learning Movement.

an anthroposophic approach to counseling and psychotherapy we integrate the whole paradigm of spiritual science into the contemporary forms of psychology thereby re-formulating a psychology inclusive of body, soul, and spirit. Dr. William Bento, Executive Director of Anthroposophic Psychology Associates of North America (APANA), states that the art of counseling is practiced in many settings: An uncle counsels a troubled niece, a licensed professional clinical counselor (LPCC) works in a treatment center for drug addicts, a counselor can also be everything in between the two. If you consider everyone who mentors another, from life coaches to police officers to wedding planners to lawyers to intimate friends, counseling includes all of us. Whereas mainstream counseling psychology has been moving increasingly toward cognitive and pharmacological approaches, this book brings us back to a psychology of soul and spirit. Through the guidance of Anthroposophy, the becoming human being, and Sophia and divine wisdom, counselors will rediscover here an approach to people that has the heart of soul and the light of spirit.

Practising Destiny Coenraad van Houten, 2000. Increasingly, people are realizing that education must continue throughout life. We face the choice of remaining as we are or developing ourselves. He describes the sevenfold path of destiny learning that leads through group work to karmic knowledge. He also describes the seven professional fields of the adult educator as an aid to self-education.
