Epistemological Dimensions of Confucian Philosophy Anne D. Birdwhistell, 1996 This study has three separate but interrelated aims to offer a methodological approach for comparative philosophy on the level of the philosophical system to examine Confucian philosophy as a philosophical system with emphasis on its epistemological dimensions and to use the thought of a particular thinker as an example of how the Confucian tradition was appropriated by individual thinkers The author demonstrates that Confucian philosophy was a social system in which ideas and actions gained philosophical meaning in reference to specific socio historical contexts and to specific levels of society from the Confucian tradition itself to the individual person Throughout the author employs insights from anthropological theory notably the social theory of communication and draws on Western philosophy to illuminate Confucian ideas and assumptions and to provide cross cultural comparisons and contrasts

The Cambridge History of China: pt. 1. The Sung Dynasty and its precursors, 907-1279 Denis Crispin Twitchett, John K. Fairbank, 1986 This first of two volumes on the Sung Dynasty 960 1279 and its Five Dynasties and Southern Kingdoms precursors presents the political history of China from the fall of the T ang Dynasty in 907 to the Mongol conquest of the Southern Sung in 1279 Its twelve chapters survey the personalities and events that marked the rise consolidation and demise of the Sung polity during an era of profound social economic and intellectual ferment The authors place particular emphasis on the emergence of a politically conscious literati class during the Sung characterized by the increasing importance of the examination system early in the dynasty and on the rise of the tao hsueh Neo Confucian movement toward the end In addition they highlight the destabilizing influence of factionalism and ministerial despotism on Sung political culture and the impact of the powerful steppe empires of the Khitan Liao Tangut Hsi Hsia Jurchen Chin and Mongol Y an on the shape and tempo of Sung dynastic events The Shaman and the Heresiarch Gopal Sukhu, 2012-09-01 The first book length study in English of the Chinese classic the Li sao Encountering Sorrow Includes translations of the Li sao and the Nine Songs The Li sao also known as Encountering Sorrow attributed to the poet statesman Qu Yuan 4th3rd century BCE is one of the cornerstones of the Chinese poetic tradition It has long been studied as Chinas first extended allegory in poetic form yet most scholars agree that there is very little in the two thousand year old tradition of commentary on it that convincingly explains its supernatural flights its complex floral imagery or the gender ambiguity of its primary poetic persona The Shaman and the Heresiarch is the first book length study of the Li sao in English offering new translations of both the Li sao and the Nine Songs The book traces the shortcomings of the earliest extant commentary on those texts that of Wang Yi back to the quasi divinatory methods of the highly politicized tradition of Chinese classical hermeneutics in general and the political machinations of a Han dynasty empress dowager in particular It also offers an entirely new interpretation of the Li sao one based not on Qu Yuan hagiography but on what late Warring States period artifacts and texts including recently unearthed texts teach us about the cultural context that produced the poem In that light we see in the Li sao not only a reflection of the era of the great classical Chinese philosophers but also the breakdown of the political religious order of the ancient state of Chu
