Philosophy, Learning and the Mathematics Curriculum Xuehui Xie, Phil Francis Carspecken, 2019-02-18 Mathematics curriculums used in progressive classrooms of the United States and in classrooms of the People's Republic of China presuppose markedly different philosophies Xie and Carspecken reconstruct different assumptions operating implicitly within mathematics curriculums developed by the Ministry of Education in China and NCTM in the United States Each curriculum is constructed upon a deep structure holistically integrating presuppositions about the nature of the human self society learning processes language concepts human development freedom authority and the epistemology and ontology of mathematical knowledge Xie and Carspecken next present an extended discussion of the two main philosophical traditions informing these curriculums dialectical materialism in the case of the Chinese mathematics curriculum and Dewey's instrumental pragmatism in the case of NCTM Both philosophies were developed as movements out of Hegelian idealism while retaining the anti dualist and anti empiricist insights of Hegel s thought The history of dialectical materialism and Dewey s instrumentalism is carefully examined by the authors to identify both similarities and sharp differences in the resulting mature philosophies Drawing upon more recent philosophies of intersubjectivity Brandom Habermas and dialectical materialist psychologies Vygotsky Luria the authors conclude this book with arguments for overcoming the limitations of a purely instrumentalist framework and for expanding potentialities implicit within dialectical philosophies This book will be of value to a broad audience including mathematics educators philosophers curriculum theorists social theorists and those who work in comparative education and learning science

AN INTRODUCTION TO DEEP LEARNING Vibhor Kumar Vishnoi, Dr. Nupa Ram Chauhan, Dr. Krishan Kumar, 2024-03-28 In deep learning an artificial neural network ANN stores and processes large amounts of data This is because artificial neural networks are used in deep learning It is able to find both overt and covert connections across datasets When working with deep learning direct programming is not always necessary Recent years have seen a meteoric rise in its popularity as a result of developments in processing power and the availability of massive datasets This is one of the reasons why For the reason that it was created using artificial designed to learn from large datasets Deep Learning is a subfield of Machine Learning that use neural networks for modeling and problem solving its development was spurred by the need to address complex problems In order to train these networks to deal with challenging problems the appropriate models must first be solved Neural networks which imitate the brain in structure and operation process and transform data These tasks are handled by multi layer neural networks consisting of numerous nodes communicating with one another Fundamental to the idea which are defined by the existence of several layers of connected nodes It is from this idea that the term deep neural network was coined Because these networks can spot hierarchical patterns and features in the data it s possible that they can develop elaborate representations of the data If deep learning algorithms could independently learn and develop themselves depending on the data they were presented then human engineers might not be needed to manually construct features Deep learning has been very effective in several fields These fields include picture identification natural language processing voice recognition and recommendation systems When training deep neural networks it is generally necessary to have access to vast volumes of data and have a fast processing speed Training deep neural networks on the other hand has become a great deal less complicated in recent years because to the proliferation of cloud computing and specialized equipment such as Graphics Processing Units GPUs
