

Assessing English Language Learners

Assessment Practices

Types of Assessments

- 1. Diagnostic: assess a learner's knowledge or skill level before instruction begins to identify strengths and needs so instruction can be tailored to the learner's individual needs (e.g., MAP).
- 2. Formative: designed to help students identify areas that need more instruction throughout the day (e.g., exit tickets, peer review).
- 3. Summative: determine how much information is being taught, measuring learning that occurred at the end of the term and comparing it to state standards (e.g., state tests).

"Language is the great sign of a nation. It tells you where it is, and who it is. It is the soul of a people." — José Martí

— José Martí (1853-1912)

Alignment of Assessment

Assessment should be aligned with the standards and learning objectives that are being assessed. This means that the assessment should measure the same skills and knowledge that are being taught in the classroom. For example, if the standard is to be able to read a story with fluency, the assessment should include a reading passage and questions about the story. This ensures that the assessment is a valid measure of the student's learning.
