(2) Auto Repeat Between Tape Counter "0000" and Tape End

The auto-repeat function can also be used in conjunction with the Memory switch. When the Auto Repeat switch and the Memory switch are both set to "CR", Auto Repeat will be performed between the tape counter "0000" indication and the tape end.

Maintenance

Cleaning

It is very important to regularly clean the head surfaces and transport sections. An accumulation of dust on the particles released from the tape can cause parts and become the cause of drop-outs and generally degrade high frequency response and overall audio characteristics. Regular cleaning is advised.

1) Remove the cassette holder cover and clean the cassette holder head is.

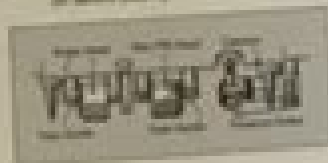

2) Place the tape holder and clean the recording/playback head by holding a cotton swab with light against the color on the side facing away from the cassette.

Be careful that the cotton tip does not get caught between the color and the cassette.

3) Press the Play button to rewind the pressure roller from the cassette. Then clean the capstan and the surfaces of the heads and tape guides with a cotton swab with the caution not to apply too much force. Tape capstan care not to damage the tape guides.

- After cleaning, make sure that the cotton swabs are left on dry of the cleaned parts.
- In case of severe contamination, repeat the cotton tip with a small amount of compressed air. Repeat cleaning head especially necessary for this condition.
- After cleaning with a cleaning fluid and after any repairs has completely dried off before playing a tape.

Demagnetizing

After a longer period of use, there can be a build-up of residual magnetism in the heads and capstan. Such residual magnetism can cause noise and possibly cause the high frequencies of a tape being played. To prevent this, you should demagnetize these parts about once every 20 hours of use with the tapeholder set to Demagnetize (optional) or any other properly designed demagnetizer. For details, refer to the instruction manual of the demagnetizer.

Lubrication

An important moving parts that cassette deck are those with tiny pins, oil and bearings. Periodic lubrication is therefore not recommended.

Cleaning the Peripherals

Clean the peripherals only by wiping it with a soft dry cloth. Never use alcohol solvents, abrasive or abrasive-cleaning agents.
