personal reflection in experiential education and service learning The authors of this book remind us in poignant and empirical ways of the importance of teaching the whole student as the book's title reflects Linking with Nature in the Digital Age Émilie Kohlmann, 2024-05-29

The use of digital technology in our societies is growing to meet the ever increasing challenges of data collection raising awareness education and understanding nature Artificial intelligence for example appears to be the answer to collecting massive amounts of data on biodiversity at a global scale and facilitating citizen participation in such data collection Linking with Nature in the Digital Age explores the reconfiguration of our relationship with nature within this digital framework This book examines this mediated linking from three angles Firstly it shows how digital technology can foster the development of links to nature Then it describes in greater detail the materiality of these links and how they have evolved with the developments in information technology Finally it questions the belief in the digital as a facilitator and opens up new perspectives on our relationship with nature and the living world Green Exercise Jo Barton, Rachel Bragg, Carly Wood, Jules Pretty, 2016-07-07

The concept of Green Exercise has now been widely adopted and implies a synergistic health benefit of being active in the presence of nature This book provides a balanced overview and synthesis text on all aspects of Green Exercise and integrates evidence from many different disciplines including physiology ecology psychology sociology and the environmental sciences and across a wide range of countries It describes the impact of Green Exercise on human health and well being through all stages of the lifecourse and covers a wide spectrum from cellular processes such as immune function through to facilitating human behavioural change It demonstrates the value of Green Exercise for activity and education purposes in both schools and the workplace as well as its therapeutic properties Green Exercise is an effective intervention for vulnerable groups and promoting healthy ageing with activities including wilderness therapy therapeutic horticulture and the use of forests and water Chapters also integrate cross cutting key themes which are relevant to all stages of the lifecourse and have significantly contributed to the Green Exercise research base such as forest bathing and blue exercise The book also explores the future of Green Exercise the way in which research can be used to influence green design and planning and how health social care and environmental agendas can be integrated to enable Green Exercise to be more widely used as a mechanism for improving health Climate Grief Shawna

Weaver, 2023-09-26 Penetrating our hearts and minds climate grief is not an ailment we have to heal from but a call to change the trajectory of our shared future The universality urgency and inescapable scope of climate change leads to a depth of grief we are not prepared to cope with and a grief that is still largely unknown and ignored Climate change and climate grief are inseparable and coping with the emotional fallout of the climate crisis is our first step toward dealing with the crisis itself and to building resilience From looking inward at our own grief and emerging with the motivation needed to make lifestyle changes and inspire others the reader is invited to create a plan for building personal and planetary resilience The planet can't be healed by few people working out of despair but by many people working out of hope care and an openness to
