Ghosh, 2004-04-30 Explains arbitrage hedging and speculation from the standpoint of a participant in the foreign exchange market whether an individual trader or an institutional trader who possesses analytical skill economically sound judgment and who has access to market data In the foreign exchange market arbitrage involves the simultaneous purchase and sale of a currency in different markets the profit comes from the difference in the buying and selling prices Hedging and speculation are opposing strategies for dealing with risk hedging is a cover and speculation is an assumption of risk Authors also discuss futures swaps forward contracts and other strategies For financial scholars students analysts and currency traders

Bank Contingency Financing Andrew J. Zamora,1991-01-16 In recent years banks have greatly increased their reliance on contingency financing Shows bankers how to minimize their risk and maximize their profits when dealing in these new markets Contingency items also called off balance sheet items are agreements made by banks in which for a fee the bank undertakes to act as an intermediary guaranteeing a transaction between other parties Zamora explains the various types of contingency financing including swap transactions forward rate agreements bankers acceptances and standby letters of credit Each topic is illustrated with a case study covers all aspects of contingency financing and places them in the context of the bank's overall financial structure

Microeconomic Risk Management and Macroeconomic Stability Andreas Röthig,2009-08-02 The essence of a hedging contract is a coincident purchase and sale in two markets which are expected to behave in such a way that any loss realized in one will be offset by an equivalent gain in the other If such behavior follows a perfect hedge has been effected Hardy and Lyon 1923 p 276 1 1 LiteratureReviewandMotivation In the traditional hedging literature the two markets in which hedgers trade are spot and futures markets The trader's position in the spot market is generally considered as given According to Johnson 1960 hedging can be meaningfully defined only if the spot market is regarded as the trader's primary market The futures market is used solely to counterbalance an existing position in the spot market Speculators in contrast do not have a commitment in the spot market They take on risk in futures markets in order to profit from expected price changes The hedger synchronizes his trading activities in spot and futures markets in order to reduce spot risk In the literature this approach to hedging is labeled risk reduction concept Risk reduction will be achieved if spot and futures prices move more or less in parallel If prices are perfectly correlated risk is abolished since losses in one market are perfectly offset by profits in the other market However as Hardy and Lyon 1923 point out any divergence from perfect correlation results in an imperfect hedge
