Nautical and Maritime Culture, from the Past to the Future Ernesto Fasano, Antonio Scamardella, Vittorio Bucci, 2019-11-15. Since the dawn of history the sea has connected and divided human societies. In order to address this increasingly ingenious and innovative technological solutions have been developed and the sea has never been an insuperable barrier to mankind. This book presents the proceedings of ICNM 2019, the 3rd International Conference on Nautical and Maritime Culture held in Naples, Italy, on 14 and 15 November 2019. The conference covers all conceptual and theoretical aspects relating to nautical and maritime culture and topics covered by the 21 papers presented here include the history of ships and navigation, maritime museums and libraries, naval architecture and the evolution of marine engineering, the conservation of nautical, marine and maritime heritage, ship and nautical design, careers at sea and the evolution of the waterfront and the coastal marine environment. The ICNM conference promotes dialogue between academics, professionals and those involved in maritime research and development and the book will be of interest to all those with an involvement in nautical and maritime culture. Springer Handbook of Geographic Information Wolfgang Kresse, David M.

Danko, 2012-02-21. Computer science provides a powerful tool that was virtually unknown three generations ago. Some of the classical fields of knowledge are geodesy, surveying, cartography and geography. Electronics have revolutionized geodetic methods. Cartography has faced the dominance of the computer that results in simplified cartographic products. All three fields make use of basic components such as the Internet and databases. The Springer Handbook of Geographic Information is organized in three parts: Basics, Geographic Information and Applications. Some parts of the basics belong to the larger field of computer science. However, the reader gets a comprehensive view on geographic information because the topics selected from computer science have a close relation to geographic information. The Springer Handbook of Geographic Information is written for scientists at universities and industry as well as advanced and PhD students. Proceedings of the Second
