Autocrats and Academics James C. McClelland, 1979      Between Tsar and People Edith W. Clowes, Samuel D. Kassow, James L. West, 1991-03-21 This interdisciplinary collection of essays on the social and cultural life of late imperial Russia describes the struggle of new elites to take up a middle position in society between tsar and people During this period autonomous social and cultural institutions pluralistic political life and a dynamic economy all seemed to be emerging Russia was experiencing a sense of social possibility akin to that which Gorbachev wishes to reanimate in the Soviet Union But then as now diversity had as its price the potential for political disorder and social dissolution Analyzing the attempt of educated Russians to forge new identities this book reveals the social cultural and regional fragmentation of the times The contributors are Harley Balzer John E Bowlt Joseph Bradley William C Brumfield Edith W Clowes James M Curtis Ben Eklof Gregory L Freeze Abbott Gleason Samuel D Kassow Mary Louise Loe Louise McReynolds Sidney Monas John O Norman Daniel T Orlovsky Thomas C Owen Alfred Rieber Bernice G Rosenthal Christine Ruane Charles E Timberlake William Wagner and James L West Samuel D Kassow has written a conclusion to the volume      Students, Professors, and the State in Tsarist Russia Samuel D. Kassow, 1989-01-01 The first systematic and exhaustive study of one of the most important social and political developments in pre October Russia It ranks among the best studies in modern Russian history Alexander Vucinich author of Empire of Knowledge and Darwin in Russian Thought      Cultivating Nationhood in Imperial Russia Lisa Khachaturian, 2018-02-06 Nineteenth century Armenia was a zone of competition between the Persian Ottoman and the Russian Empires Yet over the course of the century a new generation of Armenian journalists scholars and writers worked to transform their geographically socially and linguistically fragmented communities threatened by regional isolation and dissent into a patriotic and nationally conscious population Lisa Khachaturian seeks to explain how this profoundly divided society managed to achieve a common cultural bond The national project that captivated nineteenth century Eastern Armenian intellectuals was a daunting task especially since their efforts were directed in the Caucasus a territory known for its volatile history its ethnic heterogeneity and its linguistic complexity Although this cultural and social maelstrom was both aggravated and tempered by the new Russian arena of economic growth urban development and heightened technology and communication diversity was hardly a recent phenomenon in the region it had been an endemic part of Caucasian history for centuries Armenians were no exception to this While the Georgians bound to their landed nobility generally lived within kingdoms the Armenians experienced centuries of forced resettlement migration and centuries of habitation among other peoples Some Armenians had settled in faraway countries but many remained in scattered colonies within the boundaries of historic Armenia This is a study of the formation of modern Armenian national consciousness under Imperial Russian rule The Tsarist acquisition of Armenian populated territory and consequent efforts to integrate this territory into the empire imposed sufficient unity to provide a basis for a nascent national movement The particular influences of Russian imperial rule met the Eastern Armenian communities to create a new environment for a modern national revival This book reviews how nineteenth century Armenian intellectuals discussed and conceived of the nation through the formation of the Armenian press This is a rare blend of national culture and communication networking

Russian Jewish encounter using long closed Russian archives and other sources      Women's Struggle for Higher Education in Russia, 1855-1900 Christine Johanson, 1987-01-01 Unlike contemporary Soviet and Western accounts which emphasize the involvement of educated women in the revolutionary movement Christine Johanson investigates the relationship between developments in women's education and domestic politics of the post Crimean War era The author shows how the particular nature of autocratic rule under Alexander II facilitated the establishment of university level courses for women and demonstrates that Russian women who cooperated with the government in order to increase their educational opportunities far outnumbered the female revolutionists who sought to overthrow it And while acknowledging that Russian radicalism gave enormous encouragement to women's pursuit of university study this book shows that it was the support of progressive statesmen and academics which allowed the creation of higher educational facilities for women The attitudes aspirations and frustrations of women who enrolled in these educational facilities are also examined Considerable attention is given to the training and practice of female physicians and to the testing of their skills and commitment to social service in tradition bound peasant villages and the field hospitals of the Russo Turkish war The concluding chapter explored the conservative reaction following the assassination of Alexander II and the subsequent closure of women's advanced educational facilities
