

Abstract 101.01: Specialized and Generalized Functions in the Brain

The brain is a complex organ that performs a wide range of functions. It is the central processing unit of the body, receiving and interpreting information from the senses and controlling the body's response. The brain is divided into two main parts: the cerebrum and the cerebellum. The cerebrum is the larger part and is responsible for most of the brain's functions, including thought, memory, and emotion. The cerebellum is smaller and is primarily responsible for coordination and balance. The brain is also divided into four lobes: the frontal lobe, the parietal lobe, the temporal lobe, and the occipital lobe. Each lobe has specific functions, and the brain as a whole is a highly integrated system.
