Noell,2006-05-02 Children s display of unacceptable behavior in the school setting school violence academic underachievement and school failure represent a cluster of problems that touches all aspects of society Children with learning and behavior problems are much more likely to be un ployed exhibit significant emotional and behavior disorders in adulthood as well as become incarcerated For example by adolescence children with Attention Deficit Hyperactivity D order are more likely to be retained a grade drop out of school have contact with the law or fair worse along a number of dimensions than their unaffected siblings Barkely 1998 Identification assessment and treatment of children with externalizing behavior problems and learningdisabilities is critical to optimizing development and prevention of relatively tractable behavioral and emotional problems in adulthood For example poor interpersonal problem solving and social skills excesses and deficits are strongly associated with poor o come in adolescence and adulthood The school is where children learn essential academic social and impulse control skills that allow them to function effectively in later years School is where problems in these areas can be most easily identified and addressed The purpose of this book is to provide an overview of assessment practices for evaluating children s externalizing behavior problems exhibited in the school environment Reviews of approximately 100 assessment devices for measuring children s externalizing problems are included Instruments include structured interviews rating scales and observational methods Essentials of Adaptive Behavior Assessment of Neurodevelopmental Disorders Celine A. Saulnier,Cheryl Klaiman,2018-04-03 A practical guide to adaptive behaviors across a range of neurodevelopmental disorders Adaptive behavior assessment measures independent living skills including communication social skills personal care and practical work skills For individuals with intellectual disabilities evaluation of these skills is a critical tool for measuring eligibility and can identify specific skills that must be learned before effective educational interventions can be implemented Essentials of Adaptive Behavior Assessment of Neurodevelopmental Disorders describes the role of adaptive behavior in assessment and treatment and provides clear guidance for measurement Case samples provide real world illustration of behaviors and assessment and systematic comparison of various measures are presented and explained to better inform planning Individual chapters outline specific adaptive behaviors across a range of neurodevelopmental disorders giving clinicians practitioners students and researchers a better understanding of diagnostic differentials and how to place independent skill programming in treatment and intervention Plan intervention and treatment based on accessible measurement guidelines across a range of disorders Gain a deeper understanding of adaptive functioning specific to ADHD autism spectrum disorders disruptive behavior disorders and genetic disorders Compare and contrast current measures to evaluate their strengths weaknesses and areas of overlap Quickly locate essential information with Rapid Reference and Caution boxes For individuals with neurodevelopmental disorders adaptive behaviors are the keys to independence without them these individuals will perpetually struggle with achieving optimum independence without the basic skills needed to function at home in school and in the community Assessment allows these skills to be factored in to treatment and intervention planning and can help improve the outcomes of other intervention methods Essentials of Adaptive Behavior Assessment of Neurodevelopmental Disorders clarifies the assessment of these important behaviors helping clinicians make more informed decisions around diagnosis education and treatment planning

Information Systems in Child, Youth, and Family Agencies Jerome Beker,Anthony J Grasso Dsw,Irwin Epstein,Boysville Of Michigan,1993-10-27 Here is a detailed look at the design development and successful implementation of a utilization focused computerized information system in an agency serving children youths and families This important book describes Boysville of Michigan s effort to create a model of information utilization designed specifically for social service settings and details their unique attempt to integrate information technology and social work practice at every organizational level Information Systems in Child Youth and Family Agencies covers Boysville s five year endeavor to design implement and evaluate BOMIS Boysville Management Information System their computerized management information program evaluation and clinical decision making system The book shows how practice based research can contribute to broader practice relevant knowledge for the field in general as well as for the sponsoring agency It contains collaborative contributions by practitioners managers administrators and researchers who were directly involved in the development and utilization of the information system Many of the problems Boysville solved while implementing BOMIS are also likely to face information specialists and social work administrators in other agencies who are trying to integrate information technology with the practice needs of direct service workers This in depth case study helps them discover some of the ins and outs of setting up their own information system Information Systems in Child Youth and Family Agencies is divided into three sections The first describes the underlying theoretical assumptions of the Boysville system and the organizational structures and processes that translate these assumptions into practice This section is written largely by Boysville s research staff The next set of chapters written primarily by Boysville s practice and administrative staff illustrates the programmatic uses of information provided by BOMIS The last section illustrates how BOMIS data can serve internal organizational purposes as well as reflect on broader issues in the field and is written by members of Boysville's National Research Advisory Committee. Unique in its collaborative authorship by practitioners and researchers and its dual focus for agency decision making and for knowledge development, this book is especially helpful for managers and administrators interested in promoting computer-based practice research in their agencies, for research consultants, and for applied researchers in the human services.
