The Investor's Free Internet, 2005 MBA Education, Following the Money National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Panel on International Capital Transactions, Anne Y. Kester, 1995-11-12 Many questions have been raised about

America's status in the increasingly interconnected global economy. Yet key facts such as the amount of foreign assets abroad owned by U.S. citizens are not known. The crucial data needed to assess the U.S. position are unavailable. This volume explores significant shortcomings in U.S. data on international capital transactions and their implications for policymakers. The volume offers clearcut recommendations for U.S. agencies to bring data collection and analyses of the global economy into the twenty-first century. The volume explores how factors emerging since the early 1980s have shaped world financial markets and revealed shortcomings in data collection and analysis. How the existing U.S. data system works and where it fails, how measurements of international financial transactions are recorded and how swaps, options and futures present special reporting problems. How alternative methods such as collecting data from sources such as global custodians and international clearinghouses might improve coverage and accuracy.

Making Money Matter National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Behavioral, Cognitive, and Sensory Sciences, Committee on Education Finance, 1999-12-30. The United States annually spends over 300 billion on public elementary and secondary education. As the nation enters the 21st century it faces a major challenge: how best to tie this financial investment to the goal of high levels of achievement for all students. In addition, policymakers want assurance that education dollars are being raised and used in the most efficient and effective possible ways. The book covers such topics as legal and legislative efforts to reduce spending and achievement gaps. The shift from equity to adequacy as a new standard for determining fairness in education spending. The debate and the evidence over the productivity of American schools. Strategies for using school finance in support of broader reforms aimed at raising student achievement. This book contains a comprehensive review of the theory and practice of financing public schools by federal, state and local governments in the United States. It distills the best available knowledge about the fairness and productivity of expenditures on education and assesses options for changing the finance system.
